At a Meeting of the Council of the SURTEES SOCIETY, held in the Castle of Durham, on Tuesday, March the 6th, 1866, MR. CHEVALLIER in the chair, it was ordered "That Kirkby's Inquest for the County of York should be prepared for the Society for the current year by Mr. R. H. Skaife, of York."

JAMES RAINE,
Secretary.

THE PREFACE.

THE important record which for at least three centuries has been known to historical inquirers by the name of Kirkby's Quest or Inquest, was a Survey of several of the counties of England, made in the reign of Edward the First, by the King's Treasurer, John de Kirkby, and his fellows, who, under the authority of a royal commission, enquired, according to the ancient custom by inquests or verdicts of juries, concerning the fees held either immediately of the king, or of others who held of the king in capite. The volume which contains the result of these inquests or verdicts is said to be in some respects analogous to Domesday Book, inasmuch as it comprehends all the immediate military tenants of the crown.^a

The eminent author^b of the History of South Yorkshire, in his preface to the first volume of that valuable work, states that in his opinion Kirkby's Inquest, and the returns called the Nomina Villarum, claimed the earliest attention of the Commissioners of Public Records; and he adds, "I speak my own experience when I say, that no single records have afforded more useful and more extensive information than these have done. The Pipe Rolls only, on account of their high antiquity, and their closer bearing on the public transactions of the realm, can be said to surpass them in their claims on the attention of those Commissioners."

As with the exception of some of the earlier Pipe Rolls, the Commissioners of Public Records have only published the "Nomina Villarum," which is printed in a bulky and expensive form, the Surtees Society has undertaken to present to its members in the present volume as complete a copy of Kirkby's Inquest for Yorkshire as can be obtained from the records now known to exist. The volume contains also several Inquisitions of Knights' Fees for Yorkshire, and the Nomina Villarum for the same county.

The history of the record itself is involved in a cloud of mystery, which I regret my inability to dispel completely. The original returns of the jurors have not been discovered; and, excepting that part which relates to Yorkshire, only one copy of the Inquest is known to be extant. This MS., which is preserved in the Queen's Remembrancer's Department of the Exchequer, cannot be assigned to an earlier date than the reign of Henry the Eighth. It contains an abridgment only of the original survey,^c and there is nothing to shew whence it was derived. It is remarkable that the Commission authorizing the Inquest to be taken cannot be found. Madox, who knew more of the Exchequer records than any other person, and had read the whole of the earlier Memoranda and Pipe Rolls, never alludes to it either in his History of the Exchequer, or in the many volumes of his MS. collections now in the British Museum. Nor does Agard, who well knew the importance of the Inquest, mention such a Commission in his Calendar of the Patent Rolls. Mr. Hunter, also, who spent many years in arranging the Miscellanea of the Exchequer, never met with it either in its original sealed form, or in that of an enrolment. The more recent researches of Mr. Walbran have been equally fruitless.^d It is scarcely necessary to add that no copy of the Commission has been found in any of the MSS. hereinafter enumerated.

Various dates,^e ranging from the 5th to the 35th Edward I., have been assigned to this Survey. As the validity of many statements based on the text of the Inquest is affected by the question of its date, both as regards pedigrees and the ^d The preceding facts have been most obligingly communicated by Mr. Walbran.

^e Mr. Hunter says, Kirkby's Inquest was taken in 1277, the 5th Edward I. (South Yorks., i., preface). A translation of the return for the wapentake of Holderness is given in the History of that Seigniorship, by Mr. Poulson (vol. i., p. 40). He states that the Inquisition "was taken before John de Kirby, treasurer to King Edward I., and other commissioners, assigned to enquire of the fees holden immediately of the crown in the county of York, and the rents of assize then due, by virtue of the commission. It is attested at Clifton, March 5, 1281, ninth Edward I." And he adds in a note, "it was completed in 1295, and is preserved in the Exchequer. It has been lately printed in Palgrave's Writs." Mr. Poulson is here unconsciously referring to the writ of king Edward II., directing the returns of the Nomina Villarum, which was tested at "Clipston, quinto die Martii, anno regni nostri nono" (page 301, postea). In some transcripts of the Inquest the date is referred to the 24th Edward I. (page 1, postea, note c). Mr. Thomas, in his Handbook to the Public Records (page 211), states the Inquest to have been taken in the 35th Edward I., by Adam Kirkeby or Kirby, then Treasurer; and this error is repeated by Mr. Sims in his Manual for the Genealogist, Topographer and Antiquary.

tenure of estates at a certain time by particular individuals, and as the Inquest has been frequently confounded with the "Nomina Villarum," which belongs to the 9th Edward II., it is necessary that this point, at least, should not be left in doubt. The present volume contains ample evidence^f that, with the exception of Richmondshire,^g which was not surveyed until two years later, the Inquisitions for the county of York were taken in the thirteenth year of Edward I. (1284-5). In the return for Langbargh wapentake the exact day is named, "die Sabbati proximo ante Passionem Domini, anno regni regis Edwardi tertio decimo." The Coucher Book of Fountains Abbey contains several extracts from the Itinerary (as it is there called) of John de Kirkby, and the date uniformly assigned in each of these is the 13th Edward I. Even had no date been named in any transcript of the Inquest now extant, a tolerably close approximation is furnished by the Proofs of age and Inquisitions post mortem of persons holding lands at the time the Survey was taken. Two examples may be adduced. William de Aldfield,^h who is certified as holding the vill of Aldfield, in the wapentake of Claro, did not attain his full age until the 29th of April, 12th Edward I. The Inq. p. m. of Peter de Goushill,ⁱ who held certain lands in Beeford, in the wapentake of Holderness, was taken in November, 14th Edward I. It is obvious that the Survey must have been made during the period limited by these dates.^j

In the absence of the Commission itself, or of any copy of it, the special purpose for which this Inquest was required can only be conjectured. Probably it was to afford the king more ample information than he previously possessed preparatory to the issuing of writs of military service, and the levying of subsidies. It would be analogous to that valuation of property which precedes the rating at the present day. How much money the king could get from a particular manor or estate, in the form of subsidy, and how many men he could raise when he was going out against his enemies, were questions regulated by the nature of the tenure and the quantity of the land, and it was therefore his policy to have these settled with the greatest exactness.

^j The fact that Kirkby was not appointed Treasurer until January 6th, 12th Edward I., of course limits the date of the Inquest in one direction, and his death in the eighteenth year of the same reign in the other.

A copy is not extant of the Capitula, or articles of inquiry presented to the Commissioners, which would doubtless vary according to circumstances. Some of them, however, can be recovered from the returns now printed. As the full sense of many of the terms used is not easily rendered by a mere translation, I give them in their original form.

De feodis militum quæ tenentur de domino rege in capite, et qui ea tenent, et in quibus villis, et qui sunt tenentes sui, et ubi sunt, ut sciatur ubi distrigendum sit pro servitiis domini regis, si a retro fuerint.

De feodis quæ tenentur de aliis quam de rege in capite.

De redditibus assizæ regi debitæ.

Si ballivi infra libertatem et extra veteribus extractis utantur, etc.

De extractis et summonitionibus scaccarii per quas debita regis exiguntur in comitatu, tam infra libertatem quam extra.

De annuis redditibus ad terminum vitæ.

Quæ villæ sunt gildabiles et quæ non.

Si status eorum mutationem; per quos, etc.

Cujusmodi redditus annui debetur in singulis villis vicecomiti, tam ad turnum vicecomitis quam ad visum franciplegii.

Quantum quodlibet wapentagium dat pro firma wapentagii sui.

Quantum wapentagium solebat dare.

In quibus rebus seu redditibus vel perquisitis firma wapentagii constat, sue levare solebat.

De pecunia quæ respondetur vicecomiti de persona contra statum.

Si ballivi infra libertatem vel extra veteribus exitibus utantur, per quas, etc.

De illis qui clamant habere libertates in wapentagio, a quo tempore, etc.

Si teneatur aliquo servitio, etc.

De prisonamentis et prisonibus ubicunque captis, qualiter et quibus locis deliberar'.

Si aliquid domino regi subtractum fuerit de jure suo, etc.

Si quid in wapentagio domino regi pertinere debeat unde seisitus non est.

Of these nineteen Articles, answers to the first three may be found in the returns for nearly all the wapentakes included in this volume; the fifth and sixth occur only in the inquisition for Ryedale; and the remainder, or some of them, are limited to the wapentakes of Ouse and Derwent, Skyrack, Langbargh, and Pickering Lythe. This peculiarity is perhaps explained by the fact that, with the exception of the four last-named wapentakes, the returns now extant for the county of York are abridgments only of the original inquisitions. As an illustration of the nature and extent of this abridgment, I give two versions of the entry relating to Gate Helmsley:—

HEMELSAY. Item dicunt quod villa de Hemelsay continet in se sex bovatas terræ, et redd. vjd. pro fin' wappentagii vic', et facit sectam ad prim' com. et ad prim' wapp. post festum S. Et idem Walterus tenet prædictam terram per feodum militare de hæredibus de Chamberlayn de North Duffeld, et illi de hæredibus de Percy, et hæredes de Percy de rege in capite; unde xij car. terræ faciunt feodum militis.^k

This extract is taken from the Inquisition for the wapentake of Ouse and Derwent, which is entered in one of the Registers belonging to the Dean and Chapter of Durham, in a handwriting which may be assigned to the commencement of the fifteenth century. There can be little doubt that this Inquisition is an actual copy of the original text of Kirkby.

Before I proceed to describe some of the principal MSS. used in the preparation of the present volume, a short account of the eminent ecclesiastic whose name is inseparably associated with the Inquest may be appropriately introduced.

John de Kirkby was of an ancient and knightly Leicestershire family, which took its name from the village of Kirkby Belers in that county. He was the eldest son of Sir William de Kirkby,^m of Melton Moubray, by his wife Emma de Gorham.ⁿ The year of his birth has not been ascertained, and little is known of his early history. On the 12th of April, 1265, he became dean of Wimbourne Minster, in Dorsetshire.^o On the 7th of August, 1268, he obtained the living of Thorpe, near Newark,^p which he resigned on the 18th of October following.^q On the 8th of May, 1270, Robert de Nevill presented him to the rectory of Burnsall in Craven.^r In 1272 he occurs as archdeacon of Coventry.^s On the death of Richard de Middleton in August, 1272, the king committed the great seal into the custody of John de Kirkby, who was then, probably, either an officer of the Exchequer, or a clerk of the Chancery. Six years later he was again placed in possession of the great seal, as the substitute of Robert Burnell, the chancellor, when he went abroad; and the same course was repeated on several other occasions during that chancellor's temporary absences.^t In 1278 he occurs as rector of St. Berians in Cornwall.^u On the 11th of November, 1279, he was collated to a prebend in the church of York, which had been held by cardinal Hugh de Evesham.^v On the 10th of January, 1280-1, archbishop Wickwaine directed that “dominus J. de Kirkeby, regis clericus familiaris,” should not have his benefices sequestered.^w In 1283, being then archdeacon of Coventry, he was elected bishop of Rochester, but he renounced his right before archbishop Peckham at Michelham on the 17th of May, 1283.^x On the 6th of January, 1283-4, 12th Edward I., he was made Lord Treasurer, which office he continued to hold until his death.^y

I., n. 19), and of Gerin de Gorham, vicar of Lubbenham, co. Leicester, 1286-1312, uncle to John de Kirkby, bishop of Ely (Reg. de Daventry. Cott. MS., Claud. D., xii., fol. 152 b).—J. R. W.

On the 26th of July, 1286, he was elected to the bishopric of Ely, which had become vacant by the death of Hugh de Balsam.^z Although he had previously held so many ecclesiastical dignities, Kirkby, at this time, was only in deacon's orders. He was advanced to the priesthood, at Feversham, on the 21st of September, by the primate, John de Peckham; on the following day he^a was consecrated by him in Canterbury cathedral; and on the 24th of December, in the same year, was enthroned at Ely by Richard de Ferynges, archdeacon of Canterbury. Within four years afterwards a violent fever terminated his career. He died at Ely on Palm Sunday, “circa horam completorii,” 1290, and was buried in his own cathedral, “coram cruce, ex parte boriali chori, ante altare Sancti Johannis Baptistæ.”^b By his

John de Kirkby died seised of large estates in the counties of Leicester, Middlesex, Herts, Cambridge, Northants, Southants, Bedford, Huntingdon and Lincoln.^g His next heir was his brother, Sir William de Kirkby, then about thirty years old,^h who had summons to parliament, July 8th, 1294,ⁱ and died s. p., August 9th, 1302,^j when his inheritance was divided between his sisters and co-heiresses, Margaret, wife of Walter d'Oseville,^k Alice,^l wife of Peter Prilly, of Owersby, co. ^m On the partition of the estates of William de Kirkby in the 30th Edward I., the manor of Kirkby Belers fell to the share of his sister, Matilda de Houby (Rotul. Orig., 30th Edw. I., rot. 15). She died in the 5th Edward II., leaving a

The earliest copy of Kirkby's Inquest for Yorkshire now known to be extant, is preserved in the Registry of the Dean and Chapter of York. This manuscript is a thin folio, twelve inches long by eight and a half inches wide, written on parchment in a uniform hand, which may be assigned to the latter half of the fifteenth century. It contains fifty-nine leaves, of which the first six are not paged, the remaining fifty-three being occupied by the Inquest. There is nothing to shew whence this copy was derived, or by whom made. From the following memoranda on the first page, written in a contemporary hand, the MS. would appear to have once belonged to Sir Miles Wilstrop, of Wilstrop in the Ainsty, who was living in 1484.

Noverint universi per præsentés me Johannem Man, unum collectorum domini regis unius xv^{mæ} domino regi concessæ, recepisse de villata de Parva Cattall xiiijs. vjd., nomine dictæ xv^{mæ}, de qua summa fateor me fore solutum. Miles Wilstrop^o was the king's escheator in Yorkshire from the 5th of November, 9th Edward IV. to the 5th of November following, and this copy of the Inquest may possibly have been made for his official use.^p

The second, fourth, and fifth pages of the York MS. are blank. On the third page is a Latin enigma^l in the handwriting of Richard Gascoigne, the antiquary. This is followed by some extracts from the Testa de Nevill, which occupy nearly six pages. Kirkby's Inquest commences on the thirteenth page (folio 1), and is thus entitled:—Rotulus feodorum quæ tenentur de rege et de aliis diversis in comitatu Eboracensi, secundum Inquisitiones inde factas coram domino Johanne de Kyrkeby, tunc thesaurario domini regis, et sociis suis ad hoc assignatis per ipsum regem; et etiam de redditibus assizæ regi debitæ secundum easdem Inquisitiones.

In the absence of the original rolls it is impossible to say whether these Inquisitions embraced the whole county. All ^o For some particulars relating to this family, see page 27, postea.

^p Of the subsequent history of the York MS. little is known. Sometime before the close of the sixteenth century it came into the possession of Francis Bunny, rector of Ryton, co. Durham, and archdeacon of Northumberland, whose name, written in a bold Elizabethan hand, on what is probably the original binding, I accidentally discovered on removing a portion of the present outer cover of the book. The rector of Ryton was the third son of Richard Bunny, esq., of Newlands, near Wakefield, and died without surviving issue, April 16th, 1617. His heir-at-law was his elder brother, Edmund Bunny, rector of Bolton Percy, and canon of York, who died s. p. February 6th, 1617-8, and was interred in York Minster. His epitaph records that

Et bona pauperibus cætera; seque Deo.”

A list of the books bequeathed to the church of York by the “aged Edmund” has not been preserved, but there can be little doubt that this copy of the Inquest was one of them.

^l “Porcus per taurum sequitur vestigia ferri

the transcripts that I have seen are more or less imperfect, and the York MS. contains the returns for the following wapentakes and liberties only, which are arranged without any regard to their proper classification in Ridings:—Strafforth, Staincliffe, Dickering, the Ainsty, Ouse and Derwent, Morley, (the town of) Driffield, Birdforth, Allertonshire, Buckrose, Haug, Holderness, Hallikeld, Bulmer, Ryedale, Gilling, Skyrack, (part of) Harthill, Howdenshire, Claro, Byland liberty, Barkston, and (part of) Harthill.

Two of the MSS. mentioned below contain the returns for Langbargh and Pickering wapentakes, but for those of Agbrigg, Ewecross, Osgoldcross, Staincross and Whitby-Strand, and the liberties of Aldborough, Knaresborough and Ripon, none have been discovered. Perhaps Osgoldcross and Staincross were not surveyed on account of all the manors being held by one person, as appears from the Nomina Villarum; Aldborough with its dependencies was ancient demesne in the hands of the crown; and with regard to the other wapentakes and liberties not included in the returns now extant, the Commissioners may have met with similar treatment to that experienced a few years later by the jurors appointed to enquire concerning Knights' Fees:—

Although it is occasionally corrupt in its nomenclature, the York MS. appears upon the whole to be more correct than any other copy of the Inquest that I have had the opportunity of examining. It has on this account, therefore, been selected for the text now printed, with the exception of the inquisitions for the wapentake of Ouse and Derwent and the liberty of Richmondshire, which are derived from earlier transcripts. The York^s text has been collated with some of the following MSS.

(A.)—Treasury of Receipt of the Exchequer Department of the Public Record Office. A folio book, on paper 11½ inches long by 7¾ inches wide, lettered on the back, KIRKBY QUEST, ETC. DOM. CAP. WESTM. Class-mark, B., i., 11. Handwriting, temp. Henry VIII. The volume commences with the Nomina Villarum for Yorkshire. This is followed by Kirkby's Inquest for the same county, which agrees in general arrangement with the York MS., and comprises the same wapentakes. The remaining portion of the book is occupied by Inquisitions of Knights' Fees, taken in the 31st Edward I., for the wapentakes and liberties of Claro, Skyrack, Knaresborough, Aldborough, Ripon, Barkston, the Ainsty, Morley, Agbrigg, Strafforth and Tickhill.

(B.)—In the same Department. A folio book, on paper 15¼ inches long by 9¼ inches wide, lettered on the back, NOMINA VILLAR' IN COM. EBOR., 9 EDW. II. KIRBY'S QUEST, 24 EDW. I. FEOD. JOH'IS DUCIS LANCAS' P. & AQUITA' INFRA HONOREM DE PONTEFRAC TO TEMPORE EDW. II. Class-mark, B., iv., 24. Handwriting, about the middle of the sixteenth century. This transcript of the Inquest includes the returns for the same wapentakes as the York and A. MSS., but there is a slight difference in their arrangement. In addition to the Inquisitions of Knights' Fees, 31st Edward I., as given in the MS. last described, this volume contains a valuable return of a similar nature, and of the same date, for the wapentake of Staincliffe.

* There is another copy of Kirkby's Inquest in the Registry of the Dean and Chapter of York, which agrees generally with the MS. just described. It is contained in a Feodary's Book, written in the reign of queen Elizabeth, the class-mark of which is 31. This MS. also comprises transcripts of Inquisitions of Knights' Fees and the Nomina Villarum for Yorkshire. It is hereinafter referred to by the letter F.

(C.)—Queen's Remembrancer's Department of the Exchequer. A thick folio, unpagged, on paper 16½ inches long by 6 inches wide. Class-mark, No. 52. T. G. 15,644. Handwriting, about the middle of the sixteenth century. Besides a transcript of the Inquest for the county of York, which agrees generally with the MSS. already described, except that the wapentake of Harthill is placed between those of Strafforth and Staincliffe, this book contains copies of Rolls of Fees abstracted from Inquisitions taken by John de Kirkby and his fellows in other parts^t of England. It likewise contains a mass of matter, derived chiefly from the accounts of the escheators in the time of Edward I. and Edward II., and comprehending facts possibly not to be found elsewhere. The following is a sample of the entries, taken from the compotus of Thomas de Burgh, escheator ultra Trentam, 15th Edward II. :—

“QUIXLE. Terræ ibidem nunc Johannis Crokedayk tenentur de Willelmo de Twenge. Tenementa ibidem nunc dicti Johannis tenentur de abbathia de Fontibus per servitium vijs. per annum solvend.”

(R.)—Rawlinson MS., 450 B., in the Bodleian Library. In addition to a copy of the abridged version of the Inquest, and other valuable matter, fully described in the printed Catalogue, this volume^u contains transcripts of Inquisitions taken before John de Kirkby in the wapentakes of Langbargh and Pickering, which are not found in any of the above-mentioned MSS. It

^t A list of the counties with the names of the commissioners is given at page vi, antea.

^u The following memorandum is attached to the inside of the cover :—“This collection is very valuable, serving (principally) for the general History of the County of York, both in Church and State, antient and modern. The Collector appears to be Nich^s. Wanton, in the Reign of James I., of whose proper Handwriting most of the MSS. seem to be.” Nicholas Wanton was the youngest son and heir of Thomas Wanton, esq., of London, by Joan, only daughter and heiress of John Laxton, esq., brother and heir of Sir William Laxton, knight. He died unmarried, March 2nd, 1617-8, and was buried in York Minster.

includes, also, two versions of the Inquest for Skyrack wapentake. One agrees generally with the abstract given in the York MS. The other is entitled, "Wapentagium de Skyrack alio modo," and appears to be a transcript of the original return. That these two versions may be compared, I have printed both on the same page.

(S.)—Addit. MS., 26,729, in the British Museum. A Feodary's Book,^r partly written in the reign of queen Elizabeth, and partly in the seventeenth century. This MS. comprises a portion of Kirkby's Inquest for Yorkshire, and includes the return for the wapentake of Pickering, of which only one other copy^o is known to be extant. It likewise contains transcripts of the Inquisitions taken by John de Kirkby in Richmondshire, which differ in several important particulars from the MSS. already described, and also from the Register of the Honor of Richmond (Cott. MSS., Faust. B. vii.), whence the text for this portion of the Inquest is derived.^z

With the exception of the returns for the wapentakes of ^v This MS. was purchased for the British Museum, in 1865, of John George Smyth, esq., of Heath Hall, near Wakefield.

^w Rawl. MS., 450 B.

^x A copy of the Inquest is preserved in the Library of the Leeds Grammar School. It is thus described in the printed Catalogue: "An Inquisition taken by John de Kirkby and his associates, Commissioners assigned by the writ and order of king Edward I. Copied from the originals by T. Wilson, 1747, in folio." This manuscript, however, was not "copied from the originals." According to the title-page, it was "Transcribed from an Antient MS. belonging unto the Right hon. Family of the Percys, Earls of Northumberland, by John Hopkinson of Lofthouse, Gent., Clerk of the Peace for the West Riding, 1656; which Transcript was generously communicated by Richard Richardson of Byerley, Esq., the very good Friend of T. Wilson, anno 1747." The volume comprises the Nomina Villarum for Yorkshire, an abridged version of Kirkby's Inquest, and several Inquisitions of Knights' Fees, but it contains nothing which may not be found in the MSS. already described, and the text is exceedingly corrupt.

I would take this opportunity of thanking Dr. Henderson, the Head Master, for his kindness in allowing me to examine this MS.

Langbargh, Pickering and Skyrack, all the so-called copies or transcripts of the Inquest that have just been described must be considered as abstracts only of the original Inquisitions; and from the fact that in all the above-mentioned MSS. the entry relating to the town of Driffeld, in the East Riding, is placed between the returns for the wapentake of Morley, in the West Riding, and that of Birdforth, in the North Riding, there can be little doubt that these abstracts were originally derived from a common source.

As nearly all the above-mentioned MSS. were found to contain copies of Inquisitions of Knights' Fees, taken in the 31st Edward I., for the wapentakes and liberties of Claro, Skyrack, Knaresborough, Aldborough, Ripon, Barkston, the Ainsty, Morley, Agbrigg, Strafforth, and Tickhill, some of which were not included, and others only partially surveyed, in Kirkby's Inquest, and more particularly, also, as these Inquisitions, with others mentioned below, appeared to afford a valuable means of testing its general accuracy, it has been considered advisable to print them in the present volume. To these have been added similar Inquisitions, of the same date, for the wapentakes of Langbargh, Pickering, Howdenshire, Holderness, Dickering, Harthill, and Buckrose, and the returns of the Aid granted to king Edward I., all derived from the original Subsidy Rolls preserved among the Miscellaneous Records of the Queen's Remembrancer in the Exchequer, which I obtained permission to transcribe through the kind offices of Mr. Walbran, who was the first to point them out as useful for this work.

Although the "Nomina Villarum" for the county of York has already appeared in print under the editorial care of Sir Francis Palgrave, yet since the work^y in which it is included is not accessible to students of Yorkshire topography generally, and is inconveniently cumbrous in its bulk, it has been thought expedient to append this document to a record, of which it is a valuable illustration. Except where otherwise stated, the text now printed is derived from the Harleian MS., 6281, which was one of those used by Sir Francis Palgrave. A description of this MS. is given at page 302, postea; and to what is there stated I will only add that no pains have been spared to correct the errors of a corrupt text.

The illustrative documents printed in the Appendix have been chiefly derived from the archiepiscopal registers at York. Among them will be found some valuable Inquisitions of Knights' Fees in the wapentakes of Bulmer and Holderness, containing particulars relating to several places not named in Kirkby's Inquest; similar Inquisitions of Fees held of the see of York in the counties of York, Nottingham, Lincoln, Leicester and Gloucester; a List of all the Homages rendered to the archbishops for lands in Yorkshire held of the see; and several early grants of wardship and marriage. The Appendix concludes with some tables of Land Measure, etc., taken from a Rental of Henry, earl of Northumberland, which are valuable as being calculations on the subject of carucates and oxgangs, made while the feudal system was in existence.

The corrupt and irregular nomenclature of Kirkby's Inquest and the Nomina Villarum has partly rendered necessary the preparation of a somewhat elaborate Index Locorum, which, it is hoped, will prove not the least valuable portion of this work. As far as they can be identified, the Domesday names and the modern names of all the Yorkshire vills mentioned in the text are given in parallel columns, references being added to the facsimile edition of Domesday Book, and to the sheets of the Ordnance Survey on the 6-inch scale.

In conclusion, the editor begs to offer the thanks of the Surtees Society to the Dean and Chapter of York, for their liberality in having placed at its disposal an early copy of Kirkby's Inquest, which has furnished the text of a considerable portion of this work ; to Messrs. Buckle and Hudson, for permission to extract from the archiepiscopal registers what might be necessary for the purpose of illustration ; to the Rev. H. O. Coxe, keeper of the Bodleian Library, for the unrestricted use of the Dodsworth and Rawlinson MSS. ; and to Joseph Munby, Esq., of York, for the loan of the Percy MSS.

The editor desires, also, to tender his personal acknowledgments to Professor Max Müller, H. A. Hudson, Esq., and C. A. Thiselton, Esq., for their unvarying courtesy and attention ; and to T. Burton, Esq., C. Jackson, Esq., and Dr. Sykes, for their obliging communications.

Above all, the writer must express his grateful thanks to his kind relative, Robert Davies, Esq., to the Rev. Canon Raine, and to J. R. Walbran, Esq., for the aid and counsel they have at all times afforded, and for their valuable assistance in securing the general accuracy of this his first literary essay.

^a Except where otherwise stated, this text is printed from a Manuscript, written in the latter part of the fifteenth century, which is now preserved in the Registry of the Dean and Chapter of York. Torre's reference to it is P.y.

A description of this MS., as well as of other copies of Kirkby's Inquest with which it has been collated, has been given in the Preface, and it is only necessary here to supplement what is there stated by a few explanatory remarks.

Although, upon the whole, the York MS. is, apparently, the most correct of any of the so-called transcripts of this Inquest which I have had the opportunity of examining, the names of places and persons are occasionally so corruptly given that considerable difficulty has in consequence been experienced in their identification. It has on this account, therefore, been considered inadvisable to perpetuate in every case the errors in the text now printed; but no alteration has been made where the slightest doubt has occurred as to the place or person intended. The more minute variations between the York MS. and some of those mentioned below are not recorded, and the bracketted portions of the text, in the instances unnoted, are supplied by conjecture. In the different readings given in the attendant notes, the several letters appended refer to the following MSS. :—

A. A book marked B., i., 11, in the Treasury of Receipt of the Exchequer Department of the Public Record Office.

B. A book marked B., iv., 24, in the same Department.

C. A book numbered 52 in the Queen's Remembrancer's Department of the Exchequer.

D. The Dodsworth MS., vol. xxvii., in the Bodleian Library.

R. The Rawlinson MS., vol. 450 B (olim 448), in the same Library.

S. Additional MS., 26, 729, in the British Museum.

rege in capite pro duobus feodis militum de honore de Skypton in Craven; qui quidem honor aliquando fuit comitis Albemarlæ, et nunc est in manu regis.

MALTEBY. Isabella et Idonea de Veteri Ponte^e tenent villam de Malteby de rege in capite de honore de Tikehull pro uno feodo.

LAYTHON IN MORTHYNG. Hær' Galfridi de Lesiniaco^f ten' villam de Laython de rege in capite, in extentam xxxj^g libratarum terræ, de dono regis de antiquo dominico regis; et nullum certum servitium inde fac' regi.

DENIGBY.^h Johannes de Vavasur tenet villam de Newhall et sex bovatas terræ et dimidiumⁱ in Mekesburg de rege in capite de honore de Tykehull pro j feodo.

ARENTHORPE. Abbas de Rupe tenet villam de Arenthorpe pro feodo j militis de rege in capite, in puram et perpetuam elemosinam, de dono regis Ricardi.

WADDEWORTH. Thomas de Cheworth^j [tenet]^k in villa de Waddeworth tertiam partem unius feodi de rege in capite de honore de Tykehull.

Edwardi primi, A. Even if we possessed no other evidence, the fact that John de Kirkby died on Palm Sunday, 18th Edward I. (Calendarium Genealogicum, i., 416), would prove this date to be incorrect. The Coucher Book of Fountains contains, however, several extracts from this Inquisition, which are thus headed: "In Itinere Johannis Kyrkby, anno regni regis Edwardi primi xiiij^o, habetur sic." It appears, also, from the Rawlinson MS. (450 B, 84) that the Inquisition for Langbargh wapentake was taken "apud Ormesby, coram domino Johanne de Kirkeby, thesaurario domini regis, die Sabbati proximo ante Passionem Domini, anno regni regis Edwardi tertio decimo." The surveys for the wapentakes of Skyrack (Ibid., 43) and Ouse and Derwent (Reg. apud Dunelm.) are also stated to have been made in the same year. There was a separate Inquisition for Richmondshire, which was not taken until the 15th Edward I. (Cott. MS. Faust., B, viii., fo. 90).

^d This wapentake, which also comprises a portion of the liberty of Tickhill, has been collated with MSS. A. and C. This note belongs to the preceding page.

^e Isabella and Idonea de Vipont, the daughters and co-heiresses of Robert de Vipont, were the widows respectively of Roger de Clifford, junior, and Roger de Leyburn. Idonea re-married John de Cromwell, and died s.p. about 1333. In the Inq. p.m. of the above Roger de Clifford, taken in the 11th Edward I., the jurors say that "ipse Rogerus de Clifford et dominus Rogerus de Leyburne tenuerunt manerium de Malthby;—et hoc ratione uxorum suarum quæ erant filie et hæredes domini Roberti de Veteri Ponte" (Cal. Gen., i., 331).

^f Sometime before the 42nd Henry III., prince Edward, to whom the honour of Tickhill then belonged, gave Laughton to Geoffrey de Lusignan (S. Yorks., i., 284). ^g xxj libr., C. ^h Newhall, A. C. See p. 12.

ⁱ Such words as dimidium, bovata, carucata, feodum, militis, militare, per annum, reddit, respondet, wapentagium, etc., will henceforth be printed in an abbreviated form.

^u The historian of "South Yorkshire," in his description of Bolton-upon-Dearne, says (vol. i., p. 381), "that it appears not to have been the site of one single Saxon, surrounded by his villains and borderers, but of four different lords, whose names, in the time of the Confessor, were Osulf, Ligulf, Turchil, and Ernuil. In the new distribution which took place at the Conquest, Osulf's portion was given to De Busli, and the rest to William de Perci. Before the date of Domesday, Percy had placed two subinfeudatories in all his lands in this part of the kingdom; viz., Malger in Edlington and Barnby; and Rozeline in Bolton, Thribergh, and Dalton." That Mr. Hunter has, in this account, mistaken the entry in Domesday Book relating to Bolton Percy in the Ainsty for that referring to Bolton-upon-Dearne,—both of which formed part of the great possessions of William de Perci, and are described on the same page of that record (Domesday Book, edit. 1862, p. 48), but in different columns,—will, I think, be evident by comparing the entries there given with the Recapitulatio (Ibid., pp. 81 b, 82 b), and also with the Clamores (Ibid., p. 79), where "Homines de Anestig wapentac. testificant [quod] in Bodeltune habet Willelmus de Perci v car. de terra Ligulf." Moreover, the eight carucates which Ligulf, Turchil, and Ernuil held in Bodeton-upon-Dearne, according to Mr. Hunter, is the precise quantity allotted to Bolton Percy in Kirkby's Inquest: another instance of "the exact correspondency of those two noble records."

^e This William was the son and heir of Sir Nicholas de Ebor., brother to William, provost of Beverley and bishop of Salisbury. Without vouching for its accuracy, I place on record the following scrap of genealogy which, with other curious matter, is appended to a MS. copy of the Reg. Honor. de Richmond., written temp. Hen. VIII., now in the possession of the Rev. Canon Raine, of York:—"Memorandum quod fuit quidam, nomine Willelmus, filius Symonis de Hebden in Craven, qui genuit filiam Elenam, nuptam primo Roberto de Chamblayn, de quibus exiit Robertus Chamblayn, junior, qui obiit sine prole. Mortuo vero prædicto Roberto, seniori, prædicta Elena secundo nupta fuit cuidam Nicholao de Ebor., fratri Willelmi Whitte (?). De quibus Nicholao et Elena exiit Willelmus secundus, vocatus Willelmus filius Nicholai de Ebor., qui fuit dominus de Hebden in anno Domini millesimo cc^{mo} iij^{xx} vj^{to}. Et de eodem Willelmus exiit dominus Willelmus de Hebden, tertius. Quo mortuo Willelmus Hebden iij^{tus}, miles, filius et hæres dicti domini Willelmi, militis, successi in hæreditatem. Qui Willelmus iij^{tus} fuit sub custodia et warda Adæ Ravenesword, quondam Abbatis de Fontibus, domini sui. Qui quidem Abbas dedit eidem Willelmo in uxorem Isabellam filiam Willelmi de Yeland de episcopatu Dunelm. De isto Willelmo iij^{to} exiit Ricardus de Hebden filius suus et hæres. Et de dicto Ricardo exiit dominus Ricardus de Hebden, secundus, miles, quem Walterus Abbas de Fontibus recuperavit de Petronilla matre sua in curia domini Regis Edwardi secundi, anno regni ejusdem xvij^o. Cujus wardam et maritagium dictus Abbas dedit cuidam Galfrido, et ille Galfridus maritavit ipsum Ricardum cum filia domini Galfridi Luttrell."

Sir Richard de Hebden, son and heir of the last-mentioned Richard, married Joan, widow of John Chaumond, esq., of Colton in the Ainsty, and daughter and heiress of Richard de Wateby, bailiff of York in 1356-7, and mayor in 1365, by whom he had two sons, Thomas, dean of the coll. church of Auckland and rector of Welton, etc. (Durham Wills, i., 82), and John, who succeeded to Hebden. Sir Richard died about 1385, and was buried in the church of St. John the Evangelist, near Ouse Bridge. His widow re-married William Newsom, Esq.,

^b All traces of the village of Bustardthorpe have long since disappeared. It stood, I believe, a little to the north of Middlethorpe, and near the road leading to York. In 1484, the manor of Bustardthorpe is described as extending in length from the village of Drynghouses on the west, as far as the river Use on the east: the common pastures of Knasemyer and Middilthorp forming, respectively, portions of its northern and southern boundaries (City Records, lib. A, 368).

^p Afterwards called Wolsington, or Wolston, and now Ouston, which is the name of a farm in the township of Oxtou and parish of Tadcaster. This place is not mentioned in the Nomina Villarum of the 9th Edward II. According to an Inq. p. m., taken 1st Henry IV., Sir Bernard Brocas, knight,—one of the conspirators against Henry the Fourth, and of whose execution a startling account is given by Froissart,—and his wife Johanna held this manor of Wolston of the gift of his father Bernard (Percy MS., 330).

^y His father "dominus Ranulphus de Albo Monasterio, filius et hæres Luciae Turet," was lord of Wighill in 1254 (Chart. Healaugh, fo. 9).

^z One of the lost villis of the Ainsty, and the Haghendebi of Domesday Book, which Mr. Stapleton, in his account of the Holy Trinity Priory, York (p. 140), supposes to be Angram in the parish of Long Marston. The following extracts from the Healaugh chartulary shew this supposition to be incorrect, and that Hagganby was situated within the present township of Tadcaster East. About 1230, Robert de Lelay (Leathley) granted "domui Sancti Johannis Evangelistæ de Parco et canonicis ibidem Deo servientibus,—totam villam de Hagandeby, in qua continentur tres carucate terræ" (Cott. MS., Vesp., A., iv., fo. 14 b). Bartholomew Turet gave to the same canons "sex bovatas terræ in territorio de Esedic, propinquoires campo de Haggandebey" (Ibid., fo. 18 b). By an undated charter the Prior and Convent of Healaugh convey to Sir Wm. de Percy "decem acras terræ in territorio de Haggandebey; illas, scilicet, quæ jacent propinquoires aquæ de Fosse versus boscum de Catherton, et inter boscum de Haggandebey et moram et campum de Tadcaster" (Ibid., fo. 56). By an Inquisition taken 5th Edward III., it was found "quod Prior de Helagh Park et prædecessores sui habuerunt piscariam in Quarfe, sicut terræ et prata de Haggandebey se buttant supra dictam aquam, usque ad filum aquæ" (Ibid., fo. 151).

According to the Ordnance Survey (6 inch scale, sheet 190) there is a tract of land in the adjoining wapentake of Barkston Ash, and about half a mile to the south of Tadcaster, called Hackenby, which is bounded on the north by the river Cock, and on the south by Hackenby Dike.

^k Wilstrop, a township in the parish of Kirk Hammerton, was for several centuries the seat of a family of the same name, of which some few notices may, perhaps, be considered interesting from there being reason to suppose, as I have shewn in the Preface, that the manuscript which forms the text of the greater portion of this volume, formerly belonged to one of its most distinguished members.—Sir Miles Wilstrop, the king's escheator in Yorkshire in 1470-1. Robert de Wiuelstrop was living temp. Henry II. (Plump Corr., xv.). Sir Richard de Winelestorp, his son (Cott. MS., Vesp., E., 161), was one of the witnesses to a charter made between 1216 and 1221 (Cott. MS., Vesp., A., iv., 8 b). Robert de Wiverestorp was instituted to the rectory of Hutton Wansley, 5th kal. Oct., 1226, on the presentation of Richard de Wiverestop (Rot. Archiep. Gray, No. 48). John, son and heir of Robert Wilsthorpe, esq., was living in 1354. Margaret de Wilsthorp was elected prioress of Nun Monkton, Nov. 13th, 1365 (Harl. MS., 6978, fo. 2 b), and died Aug. 17th, 1376 (Ibid., fo. 7 b). Robert Willesthorp, esq., was living in 1418. His brother, "Mr. Henr. Wilsthorp, in utroque jur. baccal," was instituted to the vicarage of Catterick, Oct. 29th, 1430 (Ibid., 23 b), and occurs as rector of Brafferton in 1443 (City Records). Katherine Wilsthorp, prioress of Arthington, died about 1484 (Reg. Rotherham, fo. 119 a). Sir Miles Wilstrop, son and heir of Richard, and grandson of the last-named Robert, acquired the manor of Bustardthorpe in 1484 (City Records, lib. A., 368). He married Eleanor, daughter of Sir Guy Fairfax, of Steeton, recorder of York, by whom he had a son and heir, Guy, living in 1519, whose son and Test.*, xxii., 512). Charles Wilstrope, "myne heire apparent," the only legitimate child named by the testator, died, probably, in his father's lifetime, as he is not mentioned in Glover's Visitation of 1584, which gives as the issue of Sir Oswald,—Francis, Eleanor, and Elizabeth.

^l Robert de Pontefract was seneschal of St. Peter of York (Reg. Magn. Alb., pars iii., 100). By an Inq. p. m. taken 34th Edward I., his son Thomas was found to be his next heir, and of the age of thirty years and more (Cal. Gen., ii., 706). "Thomas de Pontefract de Whilesthorp" was living Dec. 21st, 1315 (York Corp. Papers, ii., 983). Thomas filius Ricardi de Pontefract, a member, probably, of the same family, was elected M.P. for the city of York, Oct. 6th, 1320, July 5th, 1321, in 1328, and again in 1333.

^b This inquisition, which has evidently been derived from a transcript of the original return made by Kirkby, occurs in the Rawlinson MS., and also in MS. Dodsworth (vol. xxvii., ff. 42 b-52 b), immediately after the abridged survey of this wapentake as printed in the text. Although not free from errors and omissions, this inquisition "alio modo" confirms, with two or three exceptions, the statements contained in the abridgment, and, in addition, gives some account of the villis of Lofthouse, Bramhop, Neusom, Berwyk, Kypas, Wooddeshom, Berdesay, Collyingham, Wyke, Grigton (?), Wriglay (?), Eltofts, Thouhouse or Tofthouse, Creskell and Stubbs. That these two versions of the Inquest may be compared, I print both on the same page.

^a To the kindness of the Rev. Canon Raine I am indebted for a transcript of this valuable document, which is entered in one of the Registers belonging to the Dean and Chaper of Durham, in a handwriting which may be assigned to the commencement of the fifteenth century. There can be little doubt that this Inquisition is an actual copy of part of the original text of Kirkby. The heading, however, does not appear to have been taken from that record, as it is not drawn in a form used in Kirkby's time, and there is neither day nor month given, nor the names of the jurors. See Langbargh wapentake, postea.

^b The Durham MS. apparently reads viii., but this, doubtless, is a clerical error for xiii.—the date usually assigned to this Inquest. See p. 1, note c. The scribe has also by an error included Howdenshire in the wapentake.

^c Gate Helmsley is in the wapentake of Bulmer, in the North Riding.

^d In the York MS.—hitherto used as the text, and referred to in the following notes by the letter Y,—and also in the versions distinguished by the letters A, B, C, D, and R, the two preceding paragraphs are omitted, and an

^z A family of the surname of Louth (de Lutha or Luda) was settled in York at an early period, and resided for several generations in a street called Bretegate, in the parish of St. Mary, Walmgate. Nicholas de Bretegate was bailiff of York, with Thomas Palmer, before 1219 (Cott. MS., Nero, D., iii., 221 b). Robert de Lutha, living in 1220, had a brother John, who was bailiff about 1235 (Ibid., 186). "Domina Elena de Bretegate" and Jeremy her son were living in 1250 (Dodsworth MS., ix., 78 b). The latter was a wealthy goldsmith, and, as "Jeremy de Luda de Bretegate," occurs as bailiff about 1263. By his wife Agnes he had a son, John de Luda, living in 1315, and a daughter, Ellen, the wife of Thomas de Thurkilby. Gilbert de Luda was bailiff in 1274-5, and, in 1278, being then a knight, was elected mayor vice Walter de Stokes, and he filled the same office during part of the year 1282, and again in 1284. On the 7th kal. May, 1282, he had the archbishop's licence to erect an oratory "infra septa ædium tuarum de Ebor., in parochia Beatæ Mariæ in Walmgate" (Reg. Wickwaine). In the same year he and Sir John Sampson and other citizens of York lent King Edward 1040 marks (Parl. Writs, i., 826). Sir Gilbert de Luda, who was patron of the church of Stillingfleet (Reg. Romanus), lord of the manor of East Ness in Ryedale, and also possessed property in Grimsby and other places in the county of Lincoln (Cal. Inq. p.m., i., 95), died in 1288, and was buried in the conventual church of the Friars Preachers, York (Coll. Topog., iv., 76), leaving a son and heir, Nicholas de Luda, then aged ten years (Cal. Gen., i., 388), and a daughter who afterwards married a son of Sir John de Pottliou (Fasti Ebor., i., 338). William de Luda, who was prebendary of Ampleford at York 1287-1290, and afterwards bishop of Ely, may have been related to Sir Gilbert. After an interval of more than a century, the name of Louth again appears on the roll of our civic magnates. Robert de Louth occurs as chamberlain in 1387, and filled the office of bailiff in 1388-9. He died in 1407, leaving five sons, William, John, Richard, Robert, and Nicholas, of whom John was chamberlain in 1414, sheriff in 1424-5, M.P. in 1432, an alderman in 1433, and died in 1435, and Richard—the last of the name who filled any of the higher municipal offices—chamberlain in 1423, sheriff in 1425-6, and M.P. in 1434.

^w Alderai, A. Aldereyes, C. A lost vill. Dr. Burton, in his account of Watton priory (Mon. Ebor., 412), says, "These nuns had lands in Aldergee, but where that place is, I know not." It may have been identical with the Alderges mentioned in the text, and also with Halderghes, where the same nuns had lands, given to them by William, son of Alexander de Santon, which are described (Ibid., 416) as "reaching from the ditch in Hungerhill to the boundaries of Etton and Gherghton, in length, and from the division of Herghes to the boundaries of Helesco." Gherghton is an error, doubtless, for Gerthum, now depopulated, which stood about two miles W.S.W. of Etton; while Herghes and Helesco will be the neighbouring hamlets of Arras and Heslesskew, each about one mile to the west of Gerthum.

(Reg. Zouche, 339). The above-mentioned William de Harum was instituted to the rectory of Acaster Malbis Aug. 20th, 1349 (Ibid., 35), resigning it in 1358. His will has not been preserved; but I find that his executor, John de Norton, clerk, by a deed dated Dec. 21st, 1362, conveyed the property in Marketskire to four spicers and citizens of York, members of the Guild of Jesus Christ and the Blessed Virgin in Foss-gate, afterwards called the Confraternity and Guild of the Blessed Trinity, and united to the Fellowship and Mystery of Merchants and Mercers of the city of York. Robert de Harum, mercer, was made a freeman of York in 1352, and filled the office of bailiff in 1370-1. He died about 1392, leaving a son, William de Harum, then a monk.

WAPENTAGIUM DE LANGBERGHE.

Inquisitio^a facta apud Ormesby coram domino Johanne de Kirkeby, thesaurario domini regis, die Sabbati proximo ante Passionem Domini, anno regni regis Edwardi tertio decimo, per hos xij viros, videlicet, dominum Ricardum de Scottersclif, dominum de Roselle, Gilbertum de Camera, Walterum de Hurwath, Walterum Thorpe, Petrum Bagotte, Johannem de Redmershall, Johannem de Kirkeby, Thomam Gower, Robertum Colby, Ricardum de Thorne, R. de Marton, Thomam Waxander et Radulphum de Bathersby :

Qui dicunt super sacramentum quod iij^{xx} et xvij villæ sunt in wapentagio de Langberche, scilicet, Marske cum Uplethum cum West Cotum, Tocotts, Lasingby, Lakkingby, Eston, Northmanby, Ormesby, Marton, Tollesby, Newham, Medellesburghe, Aclum, Arsum cum Levingthorpe, Stainsby, Hemlington, Staynton cum Thorneton, Malteby, Thormonby, Barwick, Ingelby-Loringe, Yarom, Wirkesdaill^b cum Stayndallrig, Kirke Levyncton, Castell Levyncton, Crathorne cum Foxton, Rongton, Engilby juxta Arnecliffe, Faceby cum Sexhowe, Karleton, Magna Buskeby, Dromonby, Parva Buskeby, Parva Broxton, Magna Broxton, Grenchowe, Engilby juxta Grenchowe, Badersby, Ayton, Neweton, Pinchingthorpe, Esby, Killdayll, Hoton, Gisburne, Upsall, Murton, Nunthorpe, Tonesdaill,^c Seymor, Tanton cum Newby, Hilton, Querelton cum Trancholme, Pottowe, Hoton juxta Rudby, Myddelton cum Thorpe, Skelton, Brotton, Skyningrave, Morsom cum Staynewe,^d of Rievaulx during the abbacy of Sylvan, who died in 1189, it is recorded that "grangiam de Brocton cum pertinentiis suis dederunt nobis Jordanus Paen et cæteri liberi homines ejusdem villæ" (Mon. Angl., v., 282).

^h The Camisedale of Domesday Book. Mr. Ord (Hist. Cleveland, 244) supposes this place to be identical with Commondale, a township in the parish of Guisbrough, which, according to Graves (page 435), should more properly "be written Colmandale," having been "so called from the venerable Colman, bishop of Lindisferne, who had formerly an hermitage or place of residence here." The canons of Guisbrough had lands in "Colmandale" (Mon. Angl., vi., 275), which would be included in the original donation of the founder, Robert de Brus. Commondale, however, can scarcely be considered "juxta Greneowe," from which it is distant more than six miles. In the Recapitulatio of the Domesday survey Camisedale is placed between Engelbi and Broctun. Ingleby-Greenhow is only two miles from Broughton.

^x Foukebrigg, now called Foulbridge, about one mile east of Yedingham abbey, was afterwards given to the Hospitallers, and is described in an extent of their possessions in England, taken in 1338, as "una placea destructa, cujus herbagium valet per ann. xs." (The Hospitallers in England. Ed. Camd. Soc., 140).

^z Westhorpe is not mentioned in the Nomina Villarum, and has now disappeared.

^a Richard, son of Thora de Sneigton, gave land in Snainton to the nuns of Wykeham (Burton's Mon. Ebor., 257).

^b S. omits this title.

^c Sinnington.

^d Little Edston is in Ryedale wapentake.

^e Cathwayte is not mentioned in the Aid of the 31st Edward I., or in the Nomina Villarum, and I am unable to identify it. There is a farm called Cartoft about half a mile north of Little Edston.

Abbas Beatæ Mariæ Ebor. tenet de eodem Ricardo, et de eodem feodo, in Marton vij bov. et xxx acras terræ, vocatas unam bov. terræ, etc. Prior de Malton de eodem, in eadem, ij bov. et di. terræ; Prior de Ellerton, de eodem Ricardo, in eadem, iiij bov.; hæredes Reneri^f Bertram, de eodem Ricardo, in eadem, ij bov.; hærf Mathei de Benyngfeld,^g de eodem Ricardo, in eadem, residuum, scilicet, unam car. vj bov. et di.

Prior de Malton, de eodem Ricardo, de eodem feodo in Parva Edston, unam car.

Et idem Ricardus tenet de prædicto Rogero et de feodo prædicto, in Cathwayte, unam car. terræ, quam hæredes prædicti Mathei de Benyngfeld deberent tenere de prædicto Ricardo. Sed jacet friscus, et est communia pastura, etc.

Summa bov. terræ illius feodi iiij^{xx} viij; quarum in Syvelington xl bov. Marton xxxij bov. Parva Edeston viij bov. Cathwayte viij bov.

Rogerus Bygott tenet de eodem domino rege in capite, et pro feodo unius milit., xij car. terræ in Wilton et Yedyngham; quod feodum Willelmus Brus tenet de eodem Rogero. Et de quo etiam feodo, Priorissa de Yedyngham tenet de prædicto Willelmo in Yedyngham, in puram elemosinam, ij car. terræ.

Eadem Priorissa tenet de eodem Willelmo in Wilton ij bov. terræ. Petrus de Nevyll de eodem Willelmo, in eadem villa, quinque bov. Robertus Capellanus de eodem, in eadem villa, ij bov. terræ. Decanus ecclesiæ Ebor. de eodem, in eadem, ij bov. terræ. Rogerus de Hokrell de eodem, in eadem, ij bov. Hærf Johannis de Allerstane de eodem, in eadem, ij bov. Et idem Willelmus de Bruys in dominico, in eadem, vij car. et vij bov. terræ, etc.

CROPTON. Johannes filius Baldwini Wake,^h qui est in custodia domini regis, tenet de domino rege in capite, pro feodo unius milit., v car. terræ (secundum alium rotulum xiiij car. et tres bov. terræ), quas in Cropton Nicholaus de Wake tenet de eodem Johanne; de quibus Walterus Repingale tenet de eodem Nicholao, in eadem, ij bov., et idem Nicholaus residuum.

WRELTON. In Wrelton sunt ij car. terræ quas hæres Walteri Boy et participes sui tenent de eodem Nicholao.

AYESLABY. In Aslaeby sunt ij car. terræ: quarum hæredes Arnaldi de Aslaeby tenent de eodem Johanne vij bov.; Prior de Malton de eodem Johanne iiij bov.; Eustachius de Perte de eodem Johanne iiij bov.; Ricardus Scott de eodem Nicholao ^f Ricardi, S.

^g Conyngfeld, S.

^h Baldwin Wake was dead in 1283, and John, his son and heir, had livery of his lands in the 18th Edward I. (Dugd. Bar., i., 540).

ROWCESBY.^m De feodo Comit̄is Marescalli sunt in Rouceby xiiij bov. terræ de baronia, quarum vij car. et di. ^r Dr. Whitaker says, "John de Esilton is chiefly memorable for having contested the right to the earldom and estates of Albemarle with Edward I." (Hist. Craven, 183); and that "the king, unable to evade the claim of his competitor, condescended to come to an agreement with him; and in consideration of an feoda, tam in dominico quam in servitio, de dono domini regis, et per cartam domini regis Edwardi qui nunc est, pro feodo unius milit. : de quibus idem Johannes Eston tenet in Thornton, in dominico, iiij car. et vj bov. terræ; Alanus filius Johannis tenet de eodem Johanne, in eadem, vj bov.; Hugo Brom's de eodem Johanne, in eadem, ij bov.; Stephanus filius Alani ij bov.; Robertus de Conskylff ij bov.; Alanus capellanus j bov.; Willelmus de Everle j bov.; Henricus de Eston j bov. In eadem Jacobus de Mora tenet x bov.

Et Simon Ughtred x bov. de eodem Johanne in Preston et Newton.

Prior de Bridlington tenet in Bryniston, de eodem Johanne, xiiij bov.; hæc Rogeri Moraunt de eodem, in eadem, xiiij bov. terræ.

Willelmus de Fyshburn tenet de eodem Johanne, in Aton, ex parte orientali aquæ, j car.; Willelmus de Irton de eodem Johanne, in eadem, j car.

Johannes Barde tenet de eodem Johanne, in Cayton, j car.; hæc Willelmi Hateerist de eodem Johanne, in eadem, j car.

hundred pound lands, John de Eshton released the earldom and barony of Skipton" (Ibid., 226). This account is partly corroborated by the following extract from the Plea Roll of the 35th Edward I. :—"Thomas de Multon et Thomas de Lucy, qui dicunt se esse hæredes Avelinæ, quondam filiæ Willelmi de Fortibus, petunt quod dominus rex respectum habeat ad jus suum, quod habent in maneriis de Cokermeve in com. Cumberland, Skipton in com. Ebor., et Roddeston in com. Northampton. Petitio mittitur hic, etc. Et Johannes de Cestria, qui sequitur pro domino rege, et servientes regis dicunt pro rege quod in Parlamento regis tento anno iiij regni sui quidam Johannes de Eston petiit præmissa, simul cum aliis terris de quibus dicta Avelina obiit seista, etc. Qui quidem Johannes illa tenementa remisit domino regi pro C lib. terræ quas idem dominus rex eidem concessit in manerio de Thornewton prope Pykeringe, et Skipton in com. Ebor., etc. Ideo Johannes de Eston, consanguineus et hæres dicti Johannis, sum' per vicecomitem, etc., antequam procedatur," etc. (Abbrev. Placit., 261). It appears, also, that John de Eston, in consideration of the manor of Appletreewick in Craven, released his claim to the estates of Aveline de Fortibus in England and Normandy. A copy of the acquittance is entered in the Liber Rubens Feodorum in the Exchequer, fol. 249 b.—J. R. W.

In 1279, John, son and heir of Sir John de Eston, granted to the prior and canons of Bridlington exemption from suits of court at Thornewton (Mon. Ebor., 232). In the 9th Edward I. John de Eston had a grant from the king of a market and fair in Thornton juxta Pickeringe (Cal. Rot. Chart., 109). The Inq. p. m. of John de Eshton, alias Eston, was taken in the 29th Edward I. The jurors say that "Johannes filius Roberti de Eston, quondam fratris dicti Johannis de Eston, est hæres propinquior tam prædicti Johannis de Eston quam prædicti Roberti quondam fratris Johannis de Eston. Dicunt etiam quod est ætatis viginti quinque annorum" (Cal. Gen., ii., 601). 30th Edward I., "Mand. magistro Ricardo de Havering, escaetori regis citra Trent', quod accepta securitate a Johanne filio et hærede Roberti de Eshton dudum defuncti, de rationabili relevio suo de omnibus terris et tenementis quæ etiam de rege ut de honore de Skipton in manu nostra existente tenent' per servitium militare" (Abbrev. Rot. Orig., 119).

^a The text of the Inquest for the whole of Richmondshire is derived from the original Register of the Honor of Richmond, a beautiful manuscript of the early part of the fifteenth century, now among the Cottonian MSS. in the British Museum. The Register, as is well known, has already been printed by the learned Gale (Registrum Honoris de Richmond. Folio. Lond., 1722); but that portion of his text which comprises Kirkby's Inquest has some inaccuracies and omissions. These, with various readings from the A. B. and Y. In these last-mentioned MSS. the wapentakes of East and West Gilling are mixed up in a somewhat perplexing manner, and the entries are given in a more abbreviated form than in the Register, which itself is only an abstract of the original return by Kirkby. Nevertheless these MSS. occasionally disclose new readings and additional matter. The S. MS. contains two versions of this portion of the Inquest. The first (fo. 72), which corresponds in general arrangement with the Register, supplies several important variations from that text. The second (fo. 78) is headed "Gillyng West alio modo," and agrees in nearly every particular with MSS. A. B. and Y.

^a The following transcript of the entry relating to Multon, as given in the S. copy of this Inquest, affords additional proof that the text in the Register, although much less abbreviated than the A. B. and Y. MSS., is only an abstract of the original return:—"Multon. Sunt ibidem ix car. terræ, unde, etc.: de quibus Symon de Multon tenet unam car. terræ de Comite, et Comes illam tenet, et alias quinque car., de rege. Item Abbas de Eggleston tenet duas car. terræ de Comite in puram elemosinam. Item Magister Militiæ Templi tenet in eadem villa unam car. in puram elemosinam de Comite, et Comes de domino rege in capite." In the A. B. and Y. copies this entry is thus abridged:—"Molton. In eadem villa sunt ix car. terræ, unde xij, etc.: de quibus Simon de Molton tenet j car. de dicto Comite; et idem Comes tenet v car. terræ, una eum prædicta car., de rege, etc., sed non dicitur per quod servitium."

daughter of King Edward the First, and left at his decease in 1295, a son and heir, Gilbert, then aged five years (Dugd. Bar., i., 215). It appears from an extent of the manor of Preston in Craven, which was taken in the 33rd Edw. I. (Cal. Gen., ii., 697), that the aforesaid earl held four carucates of land in Wykelesworth (Cal. Inq. p. m., i., 202).

Many lands scattered in different parts of England were held of "the Honor of Clare," which belonged to the earls of Clare, as they were often styled, until they became earls of Gloucester; but, as it has been said, not after that period. This point is, however, not settled to my satisfaction, and this earl may have been called so, popularly, after the death of his father, Gilbert, 7th earl of Hereford, and before he was summoned to Parliament in the 1st Edward II. Still, as he had not paid his relief, the land could not legally be said to be held of him.—J. R. W.

^m Sir John Sampson, knight, mayor of York in 1279, 1281-83, 1285, 1299 and 1300, and knight of the shire in 1298, was the son of Alan Sampson, alias "Alanus filius Sampsonis," who was bailiff of York in 1253-4. By an undated charter, witnessed by Sir Simon de Kime, Sir Richard Waleys, Sir Robert Ughtred, Sir Mauger le Vavasur, and John, son of Sir Richard Malebis, Richard, son of Philip de Fauconbergh, granted to Sir John Sampson of York, knight, and to Mary, his wife, "totum manerium meum de Southwod in Apelton in Aynsty" (Dodsworth MS., clix., fo. 204). On the 6th id. Sept., 1309, Sir John Sampson had licence to have an oratory within his manor of Appleton (Reg. Greenfield, pars i., 74 b). He died not long after, having had issue four sons, John, Henry, Thomas, and William, and, I believe, a daughter Constance, who married Sir John Sutton, of Sutton in Holderness. Of the sons, John appears to have died s. p. during the lifetime of his father; Thomas became a canon of York, and was much employed in state affairs (Fasti Ebor., i., 430); William was living in 1348 (Reg. Zouch); and Henry, the eldest surviving son, was certified joint lord of Appleton, with Walter de Fauconbergh, in 1316, and was living in 1338 (Rot. Scot., i., 528). "Johannes Sampson, filius et hæres Henrici Sampson," by will dated "apud Appelton, in manerio meo," August 29th, 1369 [pr. Oct. 31st, 1369], desires to be buried within the conventual church of St. John the Evangelist at Nun Appleton. He left a son Robert, and a widow Emmeria (Reg. Thoresby, 88 b). ^a The Knights' Fees in the wapentakes of Langbargh, Pickering, Howden-shire, Holderness, Dickering, Harthill, and Buckrose are printed from the original Subsidy Rolls which are kept among the Miscellaneous Records of the Queen's Remembrancer in the Exchequer. The rolls for Yorkshire are as yet unarranged, and consequently inaccessible to the general enquirer, but through the kind offices of Mr. Walbran of Ripon, who was the first to point them out as useful for this work, I obtained permission to transcribe these valuable documents, as well as others which will be found at a subsequent page. I have not given the particular references to these rolls, as the present class-marks are only provisional. The Inquisitions for the above-mentioned wapentakes form a roll of eight membranes.

^b The portions of the text within brackets are taken from a duplicate roll of one membrane, comprising the wapentakes of Langbargh and Pickering only.

Henricus de Percy tenet in Howm^b vj car. terræ, in Gerthum ij car. terræ, et faciunt feod. unius milit.; unde Moniales de Appelton^c tenent in eadem vj car., et faciunt forinsecum. Johannes de Hothum tenet ij car. terræ, et facit forinsecum.

Petrus de Malo Lacu tenet in villa de Hothum iij car., in Lokyngton j car., in Ak di. car.; et faciunt tres partes j feodi.

Alexander de Percy tenet in Gerthum et Neuton vj car. terræ; et faciunt di. feod.

Johannes filius Gervasii de Ripplyngham tenet ij car. terræ; et faciunt quintam partem feodi.

In villa de Ellerker est una car. terræ; unde Johannes Flambard tenet iij bov. terræ, hæredes Dyonis' de Ellerker j bov., Johannes de Walkyngton j bov., Johannes de Ripplingham j bov., Robertus de Kokefeld j bov.; et faciunt decimam partem feodi.

Ricardus d'Averenge^d tenet in Skipwyth ij car. terræ, in Bolthorp iij car., in Burton^e j car.; et faciunt di. feod.

^a The wapentake of Howdenshire is not co-extensive with the liberty, and of the twenty places hereinafter mentioned only two—Ellerker (a detached member) and Belasis—are within the former. The account here given should be compared with the "Libertas de Houeden" of the Nomina Villarum, which will be found at a subsequent page, and also with Kirkby's Inquest for the wapentakes of Howdenshire and Ouse and Derwent.

^b Holme-on-Spalding-Moor.

^c Robert de Percy, parson of Gisburgh, son of Henry de Percy, gave half a carucate of land in Holm to the nuns of Appleton; and Sibilla de Percy, with her corpse, gave them thirteen oxgangs of land here, which was confirmed by Henry III. in 1240 (Burton's Mon. Ebor., 277).

^d Richard de Averinges had a charter of free warren in Skipwith and Bolthorpe in the 32nd Edward I. (Cal. Rot. Chart., 135).

^e Probably this is North Burton, commonly called Cherry Burton, in the wapentake of Harthill. For this suggestion I am indebted to Mr. Burton of Turnham Hall, near Selby, who has also obligingly favoured me with an extract from a fine, attributed to the 1st of King John, from which it appears that Philip, bishop of Durham, granted to Richard de Averinges "ij car. in Scippwic, iij car. in Bolethorp, [et] j car. in Norb'ton," to be held by military service as half a knight's fee.—The following entry in Domesday Book (ed. 1862, p. 19) no doubt relates to this place:—"In Burton est soca de Welletone de j carucata ad geldum. Nigellus tenuit, sed modo dimittit." Welton belonged to the bishops of Durham.

Petrus de Malo Lacu tenet medietatem manerii de Cliff^f et facit di. feod.

Hæres^g Gilberti de Aton tenet in villis de Bardelby, Menthorp et Neuton juxta Gerthum^h di. feod.

Robertus de Osgotebyⁱ tenet in Osgoteby quartam partem feodi j milit.

Antonius de Alta Ripa tenet iiiij car. terræ in South Duffeld pro quinta parte feodi j milit.

Nicholaus de Stapelton^j tenet in eadem iiiij car. terræ pro quinta parte j feodi.

Henricus Camerarius tenet in North Duffeld vij car. terræ, in Hothum iij car. terræ; et faciunt j feod.

Radulphus de Babethorp tenet in eadem viij bov. terræ, in Brakenholm^k xj bov., in Risceby^l x bov., pro quarta parte j feodi.

Hugo de Marra tenet in Belasis cc et iij acras; et facit servitium quartæ partis j feodi.

Willelmus de Wyvill tenet in Cornesandes^m ix^{xx}vij acras et di. de feoffamento domini R.,ⁿ episcopi Dunelm., secundi; et faciunt x^{man} partem j feodi.

Summa istius wapentachii, vj feoda, iiiij^{ta} pars et xxxviii^{va} [pars] j feodi.

Summa denariorum, xij li. xjs. jd. Probatur.

^f Commonly called Long Cliff, in the parish of Hemingbrough.

^g Gilbert de Aton had a grant of free warren in Bardelby, Holme juxta Seleby, Wellome and Knapton in the 2nd Edward II. (Cal. Rot. Chart., 141).

^h Neuton and Gerthum have been previously mentioned. Gerthum stood about one mile S.W. of the present village of Gardham, which doubtless occupies the site of the "New Town near Gerthum."

ⁱ Son of Adam de Osgoteby (Burton's Mon. Ebor., 109). In the 30th Edward I. Robert de Osgoteby had a charter of free warren and licence to hold a market and fair within his manor of Osgodby (Cal. Rot. Chart., 133). Sir Adam de Osgodby, Keeper of the Rolls of Chancery, was probably his son.

^j In the 32nd Edward I., his son, Miles de Stapleton, the first baron, had a charter of free warren in South Duffield, of which town his grandson, Nicholas de Stapleton, was certified joint lord, with the bishop of Durham, in 1316.

^k Ralph, son of Ralph de Babthorpe, gave land in Brakenholm and Babthorpe to the canons of Drax, which Robert, son and heir of Ralph de Babthorpe, confirmed in 1313 (Burton's Mon. Ebor., 100).

^l Ralph, son of Ralph de Babthorpe, when his brother Martin took the habit and became a canon at Drax, gave to that priory an annual rent of 4s. 4d. payable out of his land at Risceby; and afterwards gave 10s. per annum more out of ten oxgangs of land in the same territory (Burton's Mon. Ebor., 110).

^m Probably some forgotten place near the river. Cornesandes is not mentioned in Kirkby's Inquest or the Nomina Villarum.

ⁿ Robert de Insula, bishop of Durham 1274-83.

^b According to Kirkby's Inquest, Robert de Ros held "xlvj car. terræ et di." in Roos, Atwick, Arnold, Grimston, Aldbrough, Thorp, Fosham, Ulrome, Ryhill and Marfleet.

^c The word "ibidem" here, as well as in the succeeding entries, refers to the wapentake of Holderness generally. Whenever the necessary information could be ascertained from Kirkby's Inquest, I have, for facility of reference, given the exact localities in the foot-notes.

^d Walter de Fauconbergh held 29 carucates and one bovate in Rise, Withernwick, Catfoss, Bewholme, Ulrome, Catwick, Arnold, North Skirlaugh, Rowton, Marton, South Frodingham, and East Hatfield.

^e Probably in Dringhoe, where there were nine carucates belonging to the fee of Brus, and in Bilton, West Halsham, Riton (Reighton?) and Wyton.

^f Ralph de Goushill, son and heir of Peter de Goushill, by Ela, daughter of Ralph de Cameys (Cal. Gen., i., 434), married Hawisia, daughter of Fulk Fitz Warin (Ibid., ii., 506), and died under age in the 22nd Edward I., leaving Margaret his daughter and heir, then about six months old (Ibid.). Margaret de Goushill married, first, Philip Despenser, who died about 1313 (Cal. Survey, 6 inch scale, sheet 197). Sunthorp, however, appears to have been one of the lost towns on the Humber, and its site is very clearly indicated in the following extract from the Meaux chartulary:—"De situ ergo dictæ villæ de Ravenser Odd, vestigium minime reperitur, quæ quidem villa de parochia ecclesia de Esington existens quasi 4 milliaria distabat, inter quas villas de Esington et Odd villa de Kilnesey, villaque de Sunthorp, et manerium de Ald Ravenser in parochia ecclesiæ de Kilnsea, medie jacere dignoscuntur" (Poulson's Holderness, ii., 529).

^w The vill of Raventhorp has disappeared. It stood about one mile south of Leckonfield.

^z Sir Henry Theys, or Tyes, was lord of the manor of Chilton, co. Wilts (Parl. Writs, i., 865). The writ of “diem clausit” taken upon his death bears date 8th Oct., 1st Edward II. His son and heir, Henry Tyes, who was aged 22, or thereabouts, at his father's death (Ibid., ii., 1509), died seized of the manor of Bracken in the 1st Edward III. (Cal. Inq. p. m., ii., 3).

^y Of this family, which sprung from the village of Bolton, near Yapham, a few particulars have already been given (pp. 109, 112). Robert de Bolton was certified lord of Bolton, and also of Appleton in Ryedale, in 1316. Thomas de Bolton, son of Robert, brother and heir of John de Bolton, held the manor of Hutton-upon-Derwent in 1300 and 1316, and also possessed property at Sandburn and Carlton in the vicinity of York. It is not improbable that he was the ancestor of a family which attained an influential position in that city before the close of the fourteenth century. John de Bolton, senior, merchant, chamberlain in 1380, died in 1395, and was buried in the conventual church of the Friars Minors in York. John de Bolton, junior, who lived in the parish of St. Saviour in the Marsh, was chamberlain in 1384, bailiff in 1386-7, M.P. in 1399 and 1406, and lord mayor in 1410. William de Bolton, merchant, by will dated 7th May, 1428, desired to be buried "in ecclesia Sancti Salvatoris in Ebor., subtus lapidem marmoreum patris mei in choro Sancti Johannis Evangelistæ ibidem." Another John de Bolton, merchant, was chamberlain in 1417, sheriff in 1419-20, M.P. in 1427-8, and lord mayor in 1431. He died in August, 1445, and was buried in the church of St. Saviour. By Alice, his wife, daughter of Nicholas Blackburn, senior, alderman of York, John de Bolton had, with other issue, a daughter Margaret, who married Henry Gascoigne, esq., of Harswell, and died about 1471.

^z Oliver de Messingham and Isabel his wife, living in Etton, gave four acres of land in Traneby to the priory of Watton (Burton's Mon. Ebor., 416).

^v Nicholas de Langton was bailiff of York in 1286-7, and mayor in 1297 and 1306. His eldest son, Nicholas, was certified lord of Heworth, near York, in 1316, and in 1322 was appointed keeper of the archbishop's palace and prison in York (Reg. Melton, 157). He held the office of mayor from 1322 to 1333, and again from 1338 to 1341. In 1342 John de Langton, son of the last-mentioned Nicholas, did homage to archbishop Zouche for lands in Huddleston (Reg. Zouche, 300 a). He was bailiff in 1346-7, and mayor from 1352 to 1363. In 1373 the wardship and marriage of John, his son and heir, was granted by archbishop Thoresby to William Gray, citizen of York, and Robert de Wyclif, rector of St. Crux (Fasti Ebor., i., 464). This John married Joan, daughter of Sir Robert Neville, of Hornby, and was father of Sir John Langton, of Farnley, near Leeds, who was high sheriff of Yorkshire in 1425, and died in 1459.

^a From the original Subsidy Roll preserved among the records of the Queen's Remembrancer in the Exchequer. This is one of the documents kindly pointed out by Mr. Walbran, as mentioned at page 234. The roll consists of three membranes, and contains the returns for a portion of the West Riding only. Imperfect transcripts of this aid may be found in MSS. Dodsworth (vol. xxvii.) and Rawlinson (450 B.) Dodsworth's copy was taken from a roll "in custodia honorabilis domini Roberti comitis de Kingston super Hull, 10 May, 1632."

^b In the 2nd volume of the Memorials of Fountains Abbey (p. 35), Mr. Walbran gives the following account of this Aid:—"On the 1st June, 18th Edward I., 1290, the Parliament granted an aid of 40s. from each knight's fee in the kingdom for the marriage of the king's eldest daughter. When his sister was married to the king of Scotland, her father had received only 2 marks from each fee, but on this occasion it was conceded 'quod dominus rex percipiat et habeat de quolibet feodo militari quadraginta solidos, hac vice, plenarie et integre: ita tamen quod alias non cedat eis in præjudicium vel consuetudinem' (Rotul. Parl., i., 25. Parl. Writs, i., 20). The aid was not, however, collected until the king by letters patent, dated 7th November, 30th Edward I., after reciting the grant, and that the collection had been hitherto graciously suspended for the greater ease of the commonalty, empowered the sheriffs and others to collect the same (Rotul. Parl., i., 266)."

One moiety of this aid was to be paid into the Exchequer on the octaves of the Purification, and the other moiety on the morrow of the Ascension (Parl. Writs, i., 132). By the above-mentioned letters patent, the sheriff, Alexander de Cave and Geoffrey de Hotham were appointed collectors in the county of York (Ibid., 133). Of the two last-named persons some notices have already been given (pp. 259, 264).

^c That portion of the roll which comprises the wapentake of Staincliffe is so much injured by damp that I did not attempt to transcribe it. And this was the less necessary, as the "Inquisitio de feodis militum," printed at page 189, is of the same date, and contains similar information.

^a In the Feoda Militum (p. 230) Adam de Normanvill is returned as holding one knight's fee in "Brinsford, Tryberge, Dalton et Boulton."

^b Brampton Byerlaw, in the parish of Wath-upon-Dearne.

^c Son of Reiner le Fleming. In the 21st Edward I. he was called to shew by what right he claimed to have gallows and infangtheof at Wath, when he pleaded that all his ancestors had enjoyed that privilege (S. Yorks., ii., 65. Plac. de Quo War., 203). William le Fleming died in 1307, leaving Reiner, or Reginald, his son and heir, then between thirty and forty years of age (Cal. Gen., ii., 735).

^d Wortley, in the parish of Tankersley (S. Yorks., ii., 307).

^e In the 21st Edward I. William de Cantilupe and Emma, his wife, were summoned to shew by what right they claimed to have free warren in all their demesne lands in "Aston, Kereby, Ravenesthorp, Bolteby and Trilleby," and infangtheof and gallows in the same towns (Plac. de Quo War., 225). William de Cantilupe died about the 2nd Edward II. (Abbrev. Rot. Orig., i., 161), and shortly afterwards the lands of Aston were claimed by T. de Outhenby, or de Aunby, and William de Ergham, as the representatives, the one of Christian, the other of Joan, sisters of Osbert de Arches, while Edmund Mansel claimed a third part, as son and heir of Alice, another sister. He brought his action, and the cause came to a hearing in the 5th Edward II., when the jury found that Alice was a bastard, and the plaintiff in mercy (S. Yorks., ii., 161). In the Knights' Fees in the wapentake of Strafforth (temp. Edw. II.), mentioned at page 230, note h, it is stated that "Willelmus de Ergham et Thomas Anesley (sic) ten' unum feodum de (sic) Aston de feodo [de Luterell]." In the Nomina Villarum, however, Thomas de Aunby is returned sole lord of Aston in 1316, and, as Thomas de Outhenby, he occurs as patron of that rectory in 1321 (Reg. Melton, 150 b).

^f Sir Geoffrey Lutere^f, son and heir of Sir Robert, was 21 years old on the 1st of June, 25th Edward I. (Cal. Gen., ii., 536). He married Agnes, daughter of Sir Richard Sutton, of Sutton, co. Notts., and died in 1345 (Stapleton's Trinity Priory, 160).

^g In 1314 John de Haringel was a commissioner of Array in the wapentake of Strafforth (Parl. Writs, ii., 974).

^h He is called Danyell at page 231. Peter de Rotherfield, who held the vill of Hickleton at the date of Kirkby's Inquest (p. 4), had a son William, who left four daughters his co-heirs, of whom one married William d'Eyville, who is said by Dodsworth to have held Hickleton (S. Yorks., ii., 133).

ⁱ "Egidius, filius personæ de Hekelton," married another of the daughters and co-heirs of William de Rotherfield (S. Yorks., ii., 133).

^j Langthwaite is the name of a farm about three miles N.W. of Doncaster.

^k According to the Feoda Militum (p. 231, antea), William de Langwath held the fourth part of a knight's fee in Langwath and Bramley. But in the above-mentioned Knights' Fees in this wapentake (temp. Edw. II.), it is stated that "hær' Willelmi de Langhtwayt [ten'] iiiij^{tam} partem unius feodi in Langhtwayt, et iiiij^{tam} partem unius feodi in Waddesworth."

9TH EDWARD II.

THE

9TH EDWARD II.

THE Nomina Villarum have already been printed with the Parliamentary Writs (vol. ii., div., iii.), edited by Sir Francis Palgrave, and published by the Record Commissioners in 1834. I have explained in the Preface why it was considered advisable to reprint in the present volume that portion of the document which relates to the county of York. The following account of the record itself is derived from Sir Francis Palgrave's valuable work.

The "Nomina Villarum" is a document consisting of the returns made to writs tested at Clipston, 5th March, 9th Edward II., severally addressed to all the sheriffs throughout England, stating that the king wished to be certified how many and what hundreds and wapentakes there were in the sheriff's bailiwick; and how many and what cities, boroughs, and townships there were in each such hundred or wapentake, and who were the lords thereof; and the sheriff was therefore commanded diligently to inform himself of the premises, so that, at his next proffer at the Exchequer, he might give full information to the treasurer and barons thereupon; and the sheriff, for this reason, was to appear in person at the proffer, unless he should have licence to be absent: these returns being required in relation to the military levies granted in the Parliament at Lincoln, in the quinzaine of St. Hilary, 9th Edward II., when it was directed that one man-at-arms should be raised from every township.

It will be observed that the writs require the sheriff to attend in person to give information; and it is therefore possible that, when the sheriffs appeared before the barons, the returns were drawn up from the materials which they had obtained. Being of considerable length, the returns assumed the shape of rolls, as appears from such of the originals as are yet extant, which consist of the writs and returns for the counties of Devon, Middlesex, Salop and Stafford, and Southampton, preserved amongst the records on the side of the Lord Treasurer's Remembrancer.

In the 1st Henry VII. it was noticed that these rolls or returns, in consequence of the very frequent searches made upon them, being, as the record says, in daily use, had become so blind and frayed that they could be scarcely read or understood: by which it was apprehended that great detriment would ensue to the king and the crown. Upon inspection accordingly of the rolls, by the barons, it was ordered that the same should be transcribed in quires, and made up and engrossed in a book, to remain for ever in the Exchequer.

For this purpose John Snede, writer, was appointed, and admitted by the barons of the Exchequer, and he was to receive three shillings and fourpence per quire for his labour. When completed, the book contained twenty quires and one half, for which he was paid at the stipulated rate. This book was deposited with the Lord Treasurer's Remembrancer, but it has long ago disappeared. Transcripts, more or less imperfect and corrupt exist, however, in different repositories.

To this account of the "Nomina Villarum" Sir Francis Palgrave adds the following extract from a communication received from Mr. Hunter, the historian of South Yorkshire, respecting the application of the document:—"The value to topography of the Nomina Villarum lies chiefly in this, that we find in it direct evidence of the persons who held the smaller subdivisions of the great tenancies at a particular period. Without its assistance, I know not how this information is to be arrived at, in any direct manner, where the correlative record called Kirkby's Inquest (which belongs to the preceding reign) is not to be found, and where no information of the place is to be gathered from the Testa de Nevil or the Hundred Rolls. One fixed period of this kind is of great importance, inasmuch as a single name is an indication of the line in which the lordship is passing, and may very often be the means of guiding an inquirer to a series of lords before and after the date of the record itself; and the determining in whom the possession lay is one of the chief points in the history of the rural parishes of England."

THE KING'S WRIT TO THE SHERIFF.

EDWARDUS,^a Dei gratia, Rex Angliæ, Dominus Hiberniæ, et Dux Aquitaniæ, Vicecomiti Ebor., salutem. Quia quibusdam certis de causis certiorari volumus quæ et quot Hundreda sive Wapentachia sunt in balliva tua, et quorum sunt, et quæ et quot Civitates, Burgi et Villæ sunt in quolibet Hundredorum sive Wapentachiorum illorum, et qui sunt Domini eorundem. Tibi præcipimus firmiter injungentes quod modis et viis omnibus quibus plenius et diligentius poteris te informes de præmissis. Ita quod, super proximum profrum tuum ad Scaccarium nostrum, Thesaurarium et Barones nostros de eodem Scaccario possis inde plenius informare: et tu ipse in propria persona tua sis ad dictum Scaccarium super proximum profrum tuum ex hac causa, nisi tunc licentiam a nobis habueris absens esse; et tunc per illum quem super dictum profrum tuum pro te mittes ad Scaccarium prædictum Thesaurarium et Barones prædictos de præmissis facere plenius informari. Ita quod in te vel in ipso quem pro te ad dictum Scaccarium sic mittes defectus aliquis non inveniatur per quod ad te graviter capiamus. Et habeas ibi hoc breve. Teste me ipso, apud Clipston, quinto die Martii, anno regni nostri nono.

THE SHERIFF'S RETURN.

MITTO vobis nomina Hundredorum, Wapentachiorum, Civitatum, Burgorum et aliarum Villarum in balliva mea per totum comitatum prædictum, et habeo diem ad respondendum die Lunæ in septimana Paschæ quoad certificandum Thesaurario et Baronibus domini Regis de Scaccario quæ et quot Hundreda sive Wapentachia sunt in balliva mea, et quorum sunt diversa Hundreda, quem com. Ebor. appellantur Wapentachia, fuerint in balliva mea, quorum nomina, simul cum omnibus eorum quorum sunt, patent in istis rotulis subsequentibus: quoad certificandum in forma prædicta quæ et quot Civitates sunt in eadem balliva mea, et quorum sunt, non est nisi una civitas quæ appellatur civitas Ebor., cujus quidem civitatis dominus Rex est dominus: quoad certificandum in forma prædicta quæ et quot Burgi et Villæ sunt in quolibet Hundredorum sive Wapentachiorum illorum, et qui sunt domini eorundem, et nomina Burgorum, Villarum, et dominorum eorundem, patent in eisdem rotulis subsequentibus, secundum tenorem brevis domini regis mihi inde directi.

^a This and the succeeding document are taken from the book marked B., i., 11, in the Treasury of Receipt of the Exchequer Department of the Public Record Office, hitherto cited in these notes by the letter A. They do not occur in the Harleian MS. 6281, whence the text of the Nomina Villarum is derived.

^a This title is also taken from the A. MS. The heading in Harleian MS. 6281 is simply "Comitatus Ebor."

^b Except where otherwise stated, this text is derived from the Harleian MS. 6281, in the British Museum, which is thus described in the catalogue (vol. iii., 352):—"A Folio, containing the Cities, Boroughs, Villages and Hundreds, their Names, and who were the Lords of every Manor throughout all the Counties of England from the Year of our Lord 1316 to 1559, entitled 'A transcript of the book called Nomina Villarum kept in the Office of the Treasurer's Remembrancer in the Exchequer.'" This transcript appears to have been made in the early part of the reign of Queen Elizabeth. It is supposed to be the best text of the Nomina Villarum that is now known to exist. Judging, however, by the returns for the county of York, its nomenclature is very corrupt, and it also contains several errors and omissions. Save in the occasional permutation of the letters n, u, and v, the text, now for the first time printed in extenso, is a faithful transcript of this MS., so far, at least, as I was able to decipher the handwriting, which is extremely perplexing. The Harleian text has been collated with MSS. A. and F. (see pp. 1, 124, antea), but the more important variations only are recorded in the notes, where will also be found such matter corrective of the text as I have been able to collect from Kirkby's Inquest, the Feoda Militum, and other sources. The modern names of nearly all the places mentioned in the Nomina Villarum are given in the Table incorporated with the Index Locorum.

The proof of age of "Lucia, filia et hæres Roberti de Twenge, et consanguinea et hæres Marmaduci de Twenge, defunctorum," was taken March 17th, 1294-5. The jurors say that "prædicta Lucy nata fuit apud Kylton in Clyveland die Veneris proxima ante Dominicam Palmarum, anno regni regis Edwardi septimo, et die Dominica proxima sequente baptizata in capella Sancti Petri ejusdem villæ per Alanum, capellanum Marmaduci de Twenge, militis, præsentibus domino Ricardo de Twenge, Petro Mariscallo, Ricardo Le Estyvor, Lucy, uxore Marmaduci de Twenge, et Marjoria de Brus" (Cal. Gen., ii., 513). Lucy de Twenge married, first, Sir William le Latimer, junior, from whom she was divorced about 1312 (Dugd. Bar., ii., 37), secondly, Robert de Everingham, and, lastly, Sir Bartholomew de Fanacourt. Some curious particulars relating to this lady, who died in 1346 (*Reg. ⁱ An error for Moreby. In 1318 Robert de Moreby, lord of Stillingfleet, "maritus domine Margaretæ, relictæ domini Johannis de Gray, militis, defuncti," did homage to the archbishop for lands held of him in Sculcotes (Reg. Melton, 593 a). Margaret, relict of Sir John Gray, of Rotherfield, who died in the 5th Edward II., leaving John his son and heir, was the youngest daughter of William de Odingsells, of Marstock, co. Warwick, and one of the four co-heiresses of her brother Edmund. She was 18 years old in the 23rd Edward I. (Cal. Gen., ii., 511).

^k Newton stood a short distance south of Cottingham. About 1322, Thomas, lord Wake, of Lyddel, began to build a religious house on his manor of Cottingham, which he furnished with canons of the order of St. Augustine. But because a perpetual title could not be made to this site (Mon. Angl., vi., 519), the pope granted a licence, which was confirmed by archbishop Melton on the 3rd March, 1325-6, to translate the monastery "quod vocatur Hautenprise de Cottingham ad alium locum" (Reg. Melton, 568 a). This other place was Newton, which thereupon changed its name to that of Hawtemprice (Mon. Angl., vi., 520).

ⁿ The Gilbertine priory of St. Andrew, York.

^o The Grays were a wealthy and distinguished family in York. On Sept. 14th, 1308, "Willelmus Gra et Johannes Gra de Ebor., qui in obsequium regis in comitiva Johannis filii Marmaduci profecturi sunt ad partes Scotiae," had letters of protection which were to remain in force until the following Easter (Rotuli Scotiae, i., 57). John le Graa was elected M.P. for York 8th Aug., 1311. In 1333 Thomas, son of William Gra, of Skelton, near York, granted to Robert, son of Hamo de Harum, and Alice his wife, for their joint lives, certain tenements in Marketskire, York, which he had of the gift of Mr. Thomas de Gra (Original Charter at Merchants' Hall). William Graa was bailiff in 1345-6, mayor in 1367, and eleven times M.P. between 1347 and 1372. Before 1403, John, son of Richard Graa, of York, founded a chantry in the church of St. Mary, Castlegate, for the soul of William Graa, of which Sir John Gra, knight, of Ingleby in the diocese of Lincoln, was patron in 1426 (Reg. Kemp, 307). Thomas Graa, son of the above-mentioned William, was mayor in 1375, lord mayor in 1398, and eight times M.P. between 1376 and 1399. He died in 1405, leaving three sons, John, Robert, and Thomas, of whom Robert was chamberlain in 1431, sheriff in 1437-8, and died in office June 22nd. Thomas Gray, goldsmith, master of the archiepiscopal mint "w'in y^e Palace Garth," was chamberlain in 1482, sheriff in 1488-9, M.P. in 1495, and lord mayor in 1497. In 1514, having fallen into decay, he resigned his gown, and the Council granted him a yearly relief.

^q The Prior of the Hospital of St. John of Jerusalem.

^r Probably Mr. John Gower, S.T.P., rector of Wheldrake, who died in 1338 (Reg. Melton, 264 b). On Jan. 14th, 1315, he had a commission to preach at Northallerton on Monday, the feast of S.S. Fabian and Sebastian, before the army on its way to Scotland (Fasti Ebor., i., 385). Walter Gower, chamberlain of York in 1305, and bailiff in 1306-7, and Simon Gower, chamberlain in 1324, and bailiff in 1325-6, were, I believe, members of the Stittenham family.

222, antea. In the 16th Edward II., Henry, brother and heir of Robert, son of William le Vavasor, granted the manor of Bilton to Thomas Davyll and Isabella, his wife, and the heirs of their bodies lawfully begotten (Cott. MS., Vesp. A., iv., 169 a).

^f Whihale and Estak are Wighill and Esedike. "Hemelak," which has not been previously mentioned, is probably an error for Hagenby, now depopulated (page 26, antea, note z). In the 4th Edward II., the Prior of Healaugh had a grant of free warren in "Wighale, Hagenby and Esdyke" (Cal. Rot. Chart., 143).

^g Ranulph de Blankmonstre, alias de Albo Monasterio, held Wighale and Calveton in the 32nd Edward I. (Cal. Rot. Chart., 136). See page 119, antea.

ⁱ Some account of this family has been given at page 218.

^j Sir William Malbis died about 1365, and was succeeded by his younger son, Sir Walter Malbis (York Corporation Papers, ii., 988). The eldest son, Sir Thomas Malbis, died about 1360, leaving a daughter and heiress, Elizabeth, who became the wife of Adam de Bekwith (Ibid., 996).

^k Sir Gilbert Stapleton, second son of Sir Miles Stapleton, of Carleton, married Agnes (or Maud), eldest daughter and co-heir of Sir Brian Fitz Alan of Bedale. Catherine, the younger daughter, married Sir John Gray of Rotherfield, who died seised of a moiety of the manor of Askham Brian in 1359 (Cal. Inq. p. m., ii., 213).

^l Before 1244, Walter Gray, archbishop of York, granted lands in "Dreng-huses" to his brother Robert (Drake's Eborac., append., lxiv), whose grandson, Robert de Gray, held here at the date of Kirkby's Inquest. Sir John Gray, of Rotherfield, grandson of Robert, had a charter of free warren in Dringhouse in the 4th Edward III. (Cal. Rot. Chart., 163), and died seised of that manor in 1359 (Cal. Inq. p. m., ii., 213).

^a An error for Petrus de Marthey. The heirs of Simon de Monte Alto held two carucates and a half in Morton in the 13th Edward I. (p. 31, antea). Alice, eldest daughter and co-heir of the above Simon, married John de Martheley, and Matilda, another daughter, married Nicholas de Ilketon (Plac. de Quo Warr., 225).
^b Johannes de Stapelton.

^c Probably an error for Clay or Ilklay.

^d I am unable to identify "the lady of Langtoft."

^e On Jan. 22nd, 1324, Dame Beatrix, widow of Sir Robert de Percy, took the vow of chastity before the archbishop at Cawood (Fasti Ebor., i., 418).

^f On Sept. 12th, 1312, archbishop Greenfield granted to Lucy, widow of Richard de Babington, who held of him the manor of Burghley by knight's service, the marriage of Hugh, son and heir of the said Richard (Fasti Ebor., i., 312. Reg. Greenfield, pars ii., 37 b).

^h The A. and F. MSS. read:—"Thorenour. Simon de la Roche, Walterus de Heddyngley et Thomas Peytevy." This statement is evidently erroneous. The Poitevins were lords of Headingley, where William de Patefyn held half a knight's fee in the 31st Edward I. (p. 207, antea), but they do not appear to have had any interest in Thornor. In the 4th Edward II. Simon de la Roche obtained a charter for a market and fair at Thornor (Cal. Rot. Chart., 142). The text should probably stand thus:—

THORENOUR Simon de la Roche.

HEDDYNGLEY Walterus de Heddyngley et Thomas Peytevy.

ⁱ Elizabeth Paytfin, daughter of Sir John de Calverley (Loidis and Elmete, 217), and widow of Thomas Paytfin, lord of Headingley, by will dated 23rd August, 1341, gave her body to be buried in the priory of Esholt (Hist. Esholt Priory, 20). ^j Potter Newton.

ⁱ Dr. Whittaker says that "in the Nomina Villarum, 9th Edward II., 1316, Adam de Copley is returned as Lord of Batley. This Adam founded a chantry in the south choir of Batley church" (Loidis and Elmete, 236). I believe, however, that "Hopp'" is an error for "Oxenhoppe." By charter dated at Batley, 18th October, 1334, and witnessed by Sir John de Eland, Sir Brian de Thornhill, Adam de Hoperton, John de Calverley, and others, "Adam de Oxenhoppe, dominus de Bateley," having erected "sumptibus suis" an oratory in honour of the Virgin Mary, "navi ecclesiæ de Bateley contiguo," founded therein a chantry "pro anima mea et anima Marjoriæ, uxoris meæ, et pro animabus Roberti patris et Matildis matris meæ, Willelmi de Coppeley, Johannis, Willelmi, Thomæ fratrum, et animabus domini Johannis de Thornhill, Briani filii ejus, Thomæ de Thornton et Elenæ, uxoris ejus, Johannis de Manyngam, et animabus fratrum, sororum, parentum, et omnium benefactorum meorum" (*Reg. ^a From a Feodary's Book (temp. Eliz.) in the possession of J. R. Walbran, Esq., of Ripon.

^b This account of the Knights' Fees in Holderness appears from internal evidence to have been compiled during the latter part of the reign of Henry III. It contains particulars relating to several places not named in Kirkby's Inquest.

^c Mr. Poulson, in his History of Holderness (vol. i., p. 153), says, "The wapentake is divided into four parts, or districts, according to the titles of the bailiffs, viz., that of Moijs, Tunstall, Helpston, and Dunsley. It has been generally supposed that the bailiffs take their titles from the names of places, but from ancient entries in the books of the Court it seems probable that these titles are taken from the names of four bailiffs, who served in these offices, called Peter Moijs, Richard Tunstall, Richard Helpston, and Thomas Duncely."²²

^d 24th June, 1280. Sir Robert de Scures, knight, grants to Robert Hildyard and his heirs the homage and services which Peter de Gousle did for his manor of Little Colden (Poulson's Holderness, i., 369). Robert Hildyard married Joan, daughter and heiress of Sir Robert de Scures, of Long Riston (Ibid., i., 341).

In 1299, Sir Walter Baud, knight, did homage "pro j car. terræ in Lobenham in com. Leycestre, et recognovit se respondere debere pro duabus partibus feodi unius milit." (Reg. Newark, 18 b), and again in 1301 (Reg. Corbridge, 103 b), and 1307 (Reg. Greenfield, ii., 221 a). In 1327, William le Baude had a grant of two markets and a fair in Lobenham (Cal. Rot. Chart., 158).

ⁿ Lubbenham, near Market Harborough.

^o Florentia de Lobenho is mentioned in the Hundred Rolls (vol. i., p. 237) as having held three virgates in Lobenho. About 1301, Sir Walter Baud and Sir Peter de Wulwardington, knights, occur as "hæredes dominæ Florenciæ, quondam de Lobenham" (Reg. Corbridge, 103-4). Sir Peter de Wolwardington did homage for lands in Lobenham in 1303 (Ibid., 103 b), and again in 1307 (Reg. Greenfield, ii., 221 a).

^p Perhaps part of this fee was in Caythorpe. In the 26th Edward I. William de Sanston rendered homage "pro ten. in Caythorp in com. Leycestre" (Reg. Newark, 17 b), and again in 1307 (Reg. Greenfield, ii., 221 a). In 1309 "domina Margeria, relicta domini Willelmi de Sanston, militis, defuncti, fecit homagium pro iij virgatis terræ in Kaythorp" (Ibid.).

 quod Robertus filius Gilberti de eo tenet.

archbishop received the homage of Sir Thomas de Ryggesby, knight, "pro ten. in Ryggesby, Lissyngton, Stalynburg, Swaby, Welle, Hoyton (Huttoft?), Alworth (Alford?), Stouyeby (Toutheby), Sutton et Aleby," which were held "per servitium feodi unius milit." (Reg. Newark, 17 b). In 1300, Sir Thomas de Riggesby did homage "pro ten. in Riggesby, Lissington, Stalingburgh, et alibi" (Reg. Corbridge, 103 b), and again in 1318 (Reg. Melton, 595 b). In 1326, "Radulphus de Riggesby, filius et hæres domini Thomæ de Riggesby," did homage "pro feodo et di. unius milit. in Riggesby et Lissington, cum suis membris Bleby (Aleby?), Walle, Houton, Aleford, Toutheby, Sutton, Swaby, Amby, Sauthorp (Sauthorpe), et Roldeston juxta Suwell" (Ibid.). In 1332, "Thomas de Ryggesby, filius et hæres Radulphi de Ryggesby," rendered homage "pro terris et ten. quæ tenet pro feodo unius milit. in Ryggesby et Lissington, cum suis membris, videlicet Bleby, Welle, Houton, Aldeford, Thouthemy, Sutton, Swaby, Amby et Sauthorp" (Ibid.).

^d Archiepiscopus Ebor. tenuit in capite de domino rege in Pantone et Barwarth ij car. et ij bov. Et idem archiepiscopus dedit illas Osberto de Pantone pro servitio unius milit., et hæredes ejus adhuc tenent (Testa de Nevill, 337 b).

^e In 1299, "Johannes filius Hugonis de Paunton fecit homagium pro ten. de Paunton, juxta Wrageby, et West Barkeworth, et respondet pro feodo j milit." (Reg. Newark, 18 a). In 1301, the archbishop received the homage of John de Paunton "pro ten. in Paunton et Weste Barkeword" (Reg. Corbridge, 103 b). The Inq. p. m. of John de Paunton, "qui tenuit de rege, archiepiscopatu Ebor. vacante," was taken in the 33rd Edward I., William de Paunton, "frater prædicti Johannis," being his next heir (Cal. Gen., ii., 680). "Willelmus, filius (sic) Johannis de Paunton," did homage for the same lands in 1306 (Reg. Greenfield, ii., 221 a), and, as "dominus Willelmus de Paunton, miles," in 1318 (Reg. Melton, 594 b). In 1334, "Willelmus filius Willelmi de Paunton, juxta Wraggeby," rendered homage "pro terris et ten. in Paunton et Barkeworth et alibi in com. Linc." (Ibid., 595 b), and in 1337 "Robertus de Paunton, frater et hæres Willelmi de Paunton," did homage "pro maneriis de Paunton et Barksoworth in Lyndesay" (Ibid.). In 1344, the archbishop received the homage of Hugh de Cressy "pro iij^{ta} parte j feodi in Paunton et West Barkeworth in com. Linc." (Reg. Zouche, 300 a).

^g An error for Teford, now called Tetford.—In 1298, "dominus Philippus de Teford fecit homagium pro ten. in Teford et Ormesby" (Reg. Newark, 16 b), and in 1301 "pro ten. in Theford et Hornesby," which he held "per feod. j milit." (Reg. Corbridge, 103 b). On August 4th, 1303, "venit dominus Thomas de Brayboef, miles, ostendens se paratum facere homagium domino Thomæ, Ebor. archiepiscopo, pro parte sua tenementorum quæ fuerunt domini Philippi de Teford in Teford" (Ibid.). The Templars held certain tenements in Wetherby of Sir Philip de Tefurth (antea, page 204, note e). The archbishop received the homage of William de Ouneby "pro ten. in Teford et Ormesby" in 1303 (Reg. Corbridge, 103 b), and that of Thomas de Ouneby, or Ounesby, for one knight's fee in "Tetford et Ormesby in com. Linc.," in 1318 (Reg. Melton, 595 b). Perhaps he was the same person as Thomas de Ountheby, or Aunby, who held Aston in 1316 (antea, pages 281 n, 358). In 1332, "dominus Thomas, rector ecclesiæ de Thetford, Lync. dioc.," did homage "pro j mesuagio et j bov. in villa de Thetford" (Reg. Melton, 595 b). In 1351, the archbishop received the homage of Sir William de Totheby, knight, "pro terris et ten. in villis de Tetford et Riggesby in com. Linc." (Reg. Zouche, 300 b).

^a The "Feoda militum archiepiscopatus Ebor." may be appropriately succeeded by a list of all the homages rendered to the archbishops for lands in Yorkshire held of the see. They are arranged chronologically, commencing about the date of Kirkby's Inquest, and extending over a period of nearly one hundred years. Brief extracts of other homages which the archbishops received from their tenants in the counties of Gloucester, Leicester, Lincoln, Northumberland and Nottingham, have been given in the notes to the preceding document.

^b The first seven homages, rendered to archbishop Romanus, are taken from Giffard's register, where they occur as marginal notes or interlineations on the "Feoda Militum."

H., rex Angliæ, dominus Hiberniæ, dux Normanniæ, Aquitaniæ, et comes Andegaviæ, vicecomiti Bedeford et Buck., salutem. Cum pluries tibi præceperimus quod omnes illos de balliva tua qui habent quindecim libratas terræ et tenent per servitium militare et milites non sunt, de quibuscunque teneant, distringeres ad se milites faciend., vel ad finem nobiscum faciendum pro respectu habenda de militia sua, et quod diligenter inquirereres qui de balliva tua habent quindecim libratas terræ in eadem balliva, vel alibi in regno nostro, et tenent per servitium militare, et quæ nomina omnium illorum, et quantum terra cujuslibet eorum in balliva tua valet per annum, nobis distincte et aperte scire faceres. Miramur quam plurimum et ultra modum movemur, quod mandata nostra in hac parte non es executus. Quod manifeste perpendimus eo quod pauci de balliva tua ad nos venerunt pro hujusmodi respectu habendo. Et ideo tibi, in fide qua nobis teneris, et sicut te ipsum et omnia tua diligis, distincte præcipimus, quod dicta mandata nostra sine ulla dilatione, sicut prædictum est, exequaris; Ita quod nomina omnium illorum de balliva tua qui habent quindecim libratas terræ et amplius et tenent per servitium militare, unacum valore terrarum suarum in eadem balliva in scriptis habeamus citra instans festum Assumptionis Beatæ Mariæ. Et ita te habeas in hoc mandato nostro exequendo quod pro defectu tui, te et tua graviter capere non debeamus, sciturus indubitanter, quod si secus egeris, nos de contemptu et omissione tua talem viudictam capiemus, quod ultra modum te senties inde gravatum. ^o A John de Clotherham was living in the 23rd Edward I. (J. R. W.) Roger de Clotherom held Clotherom in 1316, and another John de Clotherom occurs in 1328 (Rég. Melton, 427 a).

^p Thomas de Burton held Ingerthorpe in the 31st Edward I., and Nicholas de Burton in the 9th Edward II. Nicholas, son of Nicholas de Burton, did homage for this manor in 1339.

^q In the 31st Edward I., John, son of William de Ripon, held Markington for the fourth part of a knight's fee (page 212, antea). In 1323, William, son and heir of John de Merkyngton, rendered homage "pro terris et tenementis in Merkyngton prope Ripon."

^r William de Wyvill, of Slingsby, was living in the 13th Edward I. In 1298, John de Wyvill did homage for lands in "Nunewyk et Nunewyk-Thornes." By Inq. p. m., 29th Edward I., he died seised (inter alia) of the manor of Slingsby, and of lands in Nunwick-Thornes (Cal. Inq. p. m., i., 167), being succeeded by his son, William de Wyvill, who, in 1321, being then a knight, rendered homage "pro terris et ten. in Nunwyk et Nunwyk-Thornes," as did also his son and heir, John de Wyvill, in 1335.

^w The Inq. p. m. of William de Fortibus, earl of Albemarle, was taken in the 44th Henry III., his next heir being his son Thomas, then seven years old (Cal. Gen., i., 89), who was the last earl, and died s. p. before the 21st Edward I. (Nicholas's Synopsis, ed. 1857, page 20). The widow of the above William de Fortibus, Isabella, "comitissa Albemarlæ et Devon', ac domina Insulæ," died November 10th, 1293 (Ibid., 158 n), having survived all her children.

^r Roger de Moubray, who died in the 26th Edward I., left a son and heir, John, then about twelve years old (Cal. Gen., ii., 555). On March 5th, 1307-8, at Westminster, the archbishop received the homage of Sir John de Moubray "pro ten. quæ clamat tenere de eo infra ballivam de Rypon."

^c Geoffrey de Hewick held Hewick in the 31st Edward I. (page 212, antea). He died, probably, in the same year, leaving a son and heir, Nicholas, afterwards a knight, who did homage for lands in Hewick and Ripon in 1307 and 1318, and was living in 1328 (Reg. Melton, 427 a). In 1339, "Rogerus, filius domini Nicholai de Hewyk," rendered homage for lands in "Bondegate, Ripon, et apud Hewyk-atte-brige."

ⁿ Avice, widow of Robert de Marmion, who died in the Holy Land about 1240, was living at the date of Kirkby's Inquest. Their grandson, Sir John de Marmion, did homage "pro ten. in Rypon" in 1298.

BREVE AD INQUIRENDUM DE DUOBUS FEODIS ARCHIEPISCOPI
INJUSTE OCCUPATIS PER COMITISSAM ALBEMARLIÆ, IN HOL-DERNESSE, CUJUS TERRÆ EXISTUNT NUNC IN MANIBUS REGIS.
[Reg. archiep. Greenfield, pars. i., fol. 35 a.]

Rex dilecto et fideli suo Ricardo Gysel, escactori suo citra Trentam, salutem. Supplicavit nobis venerabilis pater W., archiepiscopus Ebor., quod cum Avelina de Fortibus, quondam comitissa Albemariæ, defuncta, quæ de nobis tenuit in capite, et ejus antecessores tenuissent de prædecessoribus prædicti archiepiscopi duo feoda^a militum, unum, videlicet, in Burton Conestable, Neuton Constable et Tharlesthorp, in partibus de Holderness, et unum aliud feodum in West Halsham in comitatu Ebor., prædecessoresque prædicti archiepiscopi custodiam terrarum et tenementorum quæ de eis, ratione feodorum prædictorum, tenebant, cum accidebat, ac alia inde diversa proficua habuissent quousque feoda illa, simul cum terris et tenementis quæ fuerunt prædictæ Avelinæ per mortem ejusdem ad manus nostras devenerunt, et quæ in manu nostra existunt, quominus dictus archiepiscopus et successores sui, ratione feodorum prædictorum, hujus custodiam et proficua percipere possint et habere, velimus ipsius archiepiscopi et ecclesiæ suæ Ebor. exhæreditationis periculo et ipsorum indemnitati prospicere in hac parte eidem archiepiscopo debitam inde recompensationem aliunde facere, vel ipsum de feodis quæ de nobis tenet pro rata portionis exonerare. Nos volentes super præmissis plenius certiorari et ulterius fieri quod de consilio nostro fore viderimus faciendum; vobis mandamus quod per sacramentum proborum et legalium hominum in balliva vestra, per quos rei veritas melius sciri poterit diligenter inquiratis si præfata comitissa tenuisset feoda illa vel alia de prædecessoribus prædicti archiepiscopi, sicut prædictum est, necne; et, si sit, tunc quæ feoda, et ubi, et quantum feoda illa valeant per annum in omnibus exitibus, ut in dominicis, homagiis, servitiis, redditibus, villenagiis et aliis, et si servitia aliqua de dictis feodis

^a According to Kirkby's Inquest, a portion of these two knights' fees was in East Halsham, which is not here mentioned:—"Avelina, quondam Comitissa Albemariæ, tenuit de prædicto Archiepiscopo in Burton Constable, Neuton Conestable, West Halsam, Est Halsam et Therlesthorp ij feoda militum; quæ quidem feoda nunc sunt in manu domini regis, tanquam dominicum suum, per mortem ejusdem Avelinæ" (page 77, antea).

TABLES^a OF LAND MEASURE, ETC.

[From the Percy MS. in the possession of Joseph Munby, esq.,
of York.]

I.

FEODA MILITUM.^b

Decem acræ terræ faciunt secundum antiquam consuetudinem unam ferdellam (x acras), et iiij^{or} ferdellæ faciunt unam virgatam (xl acras) terræ, et iiij^{or} virgatæ terræ faciunt unum hidon (clx acras) terræ, et iiij^{or} hidon faciunt unum integrum feodum militis (dxxl acras), unde relevium est Cs.

Item xvj virgatæ terræ faciunt integrum feodum militis, et quælibet virgata taxata ad vjs. iijd. ; faciunt summam Cs.

Carucata terræ. Carucata terræ dicitur quantum aratrum arare poterit in seisonali tempore.

^a These tables are taken from a Rental of Henry, earl of Northumberland, which appears to have been compiled about the latter part of the sixteenth century. They shew, amongst other things, the quantity of land contained in each bovate and carucate, according to the relative number of carucates in a knight's fee, and of bovates in a carucate. The knight's fee was fixed at 640 acres, at five score to the hundred, or 540 acres at six score to the hundred. The other quantities were influenced by the nature of the soil, and varied considerably, even within a limited distance. For instance, at Hartlington, in Craven, the knight's fee in one part of the township was estimated at fourteen carucates (page 191, antea), while in the other it contained twenty-eight (page 196, antea). Dr. Whitaker says, that "the proportion of the oxgang to the carucate was invariably that of 1 to 8" (Hist. Craven, page 8). That there were exceptions to this rule is proved by the tables now printed, by the entry in the Feoda Militum relating to East Halsham, where four carucates made "di. feod. j milit., et quælibet car. cont. xij bov. terræ" (page 248, antea), and also by the letter from Robert de Hilton to archbishop Melton concerning the manor of Swine (page 440, antea), wherein it is stated that "de ceo fee xij boves de tere fomnt une carue de tere, et viij carues de tere fomnt le fee de un chyvaler."

In Domesday Survey Niunehusum is placed between Halsem and Rimeswelle. The Inq. p. m. of John Aldelot de Neusom juxta Frodingham, who is certified in the Nomina Villarum as joint lord of "Neusom cum membris," was taken at Patrington, 3rd June, 18th Edward II. The jurors say that John Aldelot, junior, held at Neusom juxta Frothingham, the day he died, a capital messuage and certain lands of which each oxgang contained 12 acres. His next heir was his brother William, then 24 years old.

THE SURTEES SOCIETY.

REPORT FOR THE YEAR MD.CCC.LXVI.

[Read at the General Meeting on the 5th of June.]

The Council have much pleasure in announcing to the members that during the past year there has been nothing to detract in any way from the prosperity of the Surtees Society. The number of associates is full, and candidates are waiting for admission. The popularity of the publications is unabated; the sale of them to non-members is regularly good; and the position of the Society in every respect is so satisfactory that it seems in middle age to have all the freshness and buoyancy of youth.

During the past year there have been eight vacancies on the list of members by death, and only two by resignation. In Sir William Lawson the Society has lost not merely one of its original members, of whom, elected thirty-two years ago, there are now but eleven surviving, but it misses a Vice-President, and a zealous and intelligent co-operator in antiquarian research. It is with pain also that it sees the names of the late Master of Trinity College, Cambridge, and Joseph Francis Tempest, Esq., disappear from its roll of members, on which they have been standing for the last thirty years.

Since our last Anniversary three volumes have been placed in the hands of the members; and, within a few days, a fourth, the concluding portion of the Lindisfarne Gospels, will also be distributed. The Society may congratulate itself on the completion of a work which no other literary association, perhaps, would have ventured to take up. It cannot but be satisfactory to the members to know that, by the publication of this most valuable work, they have earned the thanks of Anglo-Saxon and Biblical scholars, not only in England, but in all parts of Europe. Through the kindness of the Editor, Mr. Waring, a glossary of Northumbro-Saxon words will be published by the Society, which will be a key not merely to those which occur in the Lindisfarne Gospels, but to all that are to be found in the rest of our publications.

With respect to the future, there are several works in progress. One of these is the second part of the Memorials of Fountains Abbey, containing the Regal charters of privilege and the Papal bulls, with a vast mass of illustrative matter. Through the most kind munificence of Colonel Akroyd, M.P., a large sum of money has been placed at the disposal of the Society to ensure the perfecting and ornamenting of this volume. The Abbey itself may well awake the ardent zeal of a Yorkshireman, and the members of the Society will see with pleasure how this spirit animates, not only the editor of the volume, but the kind-hearted friend who enables them to resuscitate, in so satisfactory a manner, persons and things that seemed to be irretrievably lost. Another valuable contribution to Yorkshire history will be the Survey of the various fees and manors throughout the County, which was made by John de Kirkby in the early part of the reign of Edward I. From its compiler it is usually known by the name of Kirkby's Quest. In value and importance it is second only to Domesday Book; and the only portion of it which is in print is the part devoted to Richmondshire. This Roger Gale has printed in his Registrum Honoris de Richmond. To Kirkby's Quest it has been thought desirable to add some lists of knights' fees which were made in the reign of Edward I., and the Nomina Villarum which were compiled shortly afterwards. The last mentioned document has been somewhat inaccurately printed by Sir Francis Palgrave. As the errors can easily be corrected, and as another MS. has been found, the members of the Society will welcome the appearance of a document of so much interest and value. In the Domesday Book, and in this volume, the future historians of Yorkshire will find the real foundations of the topography of that County. A third work that the Society has in hand is a selection from the correspondence of John Cosin, the well known Bishop of Durham. The sufferings, the piety, and the learning of this celebrated prelate, give an especial interest to everything that proceeded from his pen; and scholars far and wide are eager at the present day to know the workings of his mind, and the details of the story of his life. Here, in Durham, the name of Cosin has never been forgotten, and the Surtees Society gladly takes upon itself the charge of meeting a generally-expressed wish, by adding to what is already known of the history of one of the greatest of the old prince-bishops of Durham.

THE SURTEES SOCIETY,

ESTABLISHED IN THE YEAR 1834.

In honour of the late Robert Surtees, of Mainsforth, Esquire, the Author of the History of the County Palatine of Durham, and in accordance with his pursuits and plans; having for its object the publication of inedited Manuscripts, illustrative of the intellectual, the moral, the religious, and the social condition of those parts of England and Scotland, included on the east between the Humber and the Frith of Forth, and on the west between the Mersey and the Clyde, a region which constituted the ancient Kingdom of Northumberland.

NEW RULES AGREED UPON IN 1849; REVISED 1863.

I.—The Society shall consist of not more than three hundred and fifty members.

II.—There shall be a patron of the Society, who shall be President.

III.—There shall be twenty-four Vice-Presidents, a Secretary, and two Treasurers.

IV.—The Patron, the Vice-Presidents, the Secretary, and the Treasurers, shall form the Council; any five of whom, including the Secretary and a Treasurer, shall be a quorum competent to transact the business of the Society.

V.—The twenty-four Vice-Presidents, the Secretary, and the Treasurers, shall be elected at a general meeting, to continue in office for three years, and be capable of re-election.

VI.—Any vacancies in the offices of Secretary or Treasurers shall be provisionally filled up by the Council, subject to the approbation of the next general meeting.

VII.—Three meetings of the Council shall be held in every year, on the first Tuesday in the months of March, June, and December; and the place and hour of meeting shall be fixed by the Council, and communicated by the Secretary to the members of the Council.

VIII.—The meeting in June shall be the anniversary, to which all the members of the Society shall be convened by the Secretary.

IX.—The Secretary shall convene extraordinary meetings of the council, on a requisition to that effect, signed by not less than five members of the Council, being presented to him.

X.—Members may be elected by ballot at any of the ordinary meetings, according to priority of application, upon being proposed in writing by three existing members. One black ball in ten shall exclude.

XI.—Each member shall pay in advance to the Treasurer the annual sum of one guinea. If any member's subscription shall be in arrear for two years, and he shall neglect to pay his subscription after having been reminded by the Treasurer, he shall be regarded as having ceased to be a member of the Society.

XII.—The money raised by the Society shall be expended in publishing such compositions, in their original language, or in a translated form, as come within the scope of this Society, without limitation of time with reference to the period of their respective authors. All editorial and other expenses to be defrayed by the Society.

XIII.—One volume, at least, in a closely printed octavo form, shall be supplied to each member of the Society every year, free of expense.

XIV.—If the funds of the Society in any year will permit, the Council shall be at liberty to print and furnish to the members, free of expense, any other volume or volumes of the same character, in the same or a different form.

XV.—The number of copies of each publication, and the selection of a printer and publisher, shall be left to the Council, who shall also fix the price at which the copies not furnished to members shall be sold to the public.

XVI.—The armorial bearings of Mr. Surtees and some other characteristic decoration connecting the Society with his name, shall be used in each publication.

XVII.—A list of the officers and members, together with an account of the receipts and expenses of the Society, shall be made up every year to the time of the annual meeting, and shall be submitted to the Society to be printed and published with the next succeeding volume.

XVIII.—No alteration shall be made in these rules except at an annual meeting. Notice of any such alteration shall be given at least as early as the ordinary meeting of the Council immediately preceding, to be communicated to each member of the Society.

PUBLICATIONS OF THE SURTEES SOCIETY,

WITH THEIR RESPECTIVE SALE PRICES.

N.B.—Of several of these volumes the number of copies on hand is very small; some will not be sold except to members of the Society under certain conditions, and all applications for them must be made to the Secretary.
